High Winds, Rain Sweep Over Ohio

By The Associated Press

High winds, rain mixed with pelting hail and two tornadoes interrupted an otherwise partly cloudy and comfortable Easter Sunday, the National Weather Service said.

The storms which raced through Ohio at midday left roofs off their rafters and some trees uprooted in Central Ohio, authorities reported.

Most of the day was filled with sunshine and warm temperatures as many Ohioans took to the roads and outside to enjoy one of the first breaks in rainy, cold weather.

Tornadoes were sighted by the weather service at Grove City and La Rue. Winds near the twisters were clocked up to 70 m.p.h., the service said.

At least five persons were injured when several mobile homes in the Marion area were damaged by high winds, rain and hail, authorities said.

Three persons received minor cuts and bruises when winds toppled more than a half-dozen trailer homes near New Bloomington, a dispatcher at the La Rue Fire Department said.

There were power outages in southwest Ohio as a result of the high winds, authorities said.

Most of the state was under a tornado watch Sunday afternoon as a storm front moved through the state from Indiana into Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Northern Ohio was warned of high winds through the evening.

A low pressure system and associated cold front were responsible for Sunday's turbulent weather.

By dawn today the system had moved north and east of the state, leaving behind only a few lingering showers and strong westerly winds.

Seventy-mile-per-hour winds caused extensive damage to buildings in Pickaway County, Sunday.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was driving east on Route 56 when high winds toppled a chimney and part of the roof on the Pleasant View United Methodist Church.

Ronald Gool, Carvel Trailer Court; Mr. and Mrs. William Parrott, Route 4; Melvin Garrett, Route 4 reported high winds caused damage to their mobile homes.

Ronald Imler, Route 1, Kingston; Raymond Hedges, Route 1, Laurelville; E. H. Fetherolf, Route 1, Kingston; D. C. Valentine, Route 1, Kingston; Jacob Maxwell, Route 1, Kingston, reported winds caused extensive damage to barn roofs.

Sheriff's authorities investigated one report of tree limbs on the highway. Deputy John Bost found a camper-top on the highway.

No estimate was made until completion of investigation by the insurance companies.

This activity was forecast to diminish by afternoon, and clearing skies were expected over southern counties.

Cooler temperatures were forecast across the state tonight and Tuesday.

Federal Income Tax Deadline Arrives; Expect Late Flood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is April 15, the deadline for filing your 1973 income tax return, unless you live in Maine, Massachusetts or North Carolina.

In those states you have until Tuesday because today is a legal holiday — Patriot's day in Maine and Massachusetts and Easter Monday in North Carolina.

The Internal Revenue Service estimated that it will receive more than 80 million returns this year, up considerably from 425,000 returns filed in 1913, the year that the Payne-Aldrich act created the income tax.

And of these 80 million, officials say nearly half are sent in during the last two weeks, with many tax-payers hurrying to the post office to get them postmarked before the midnight deadline.

Officials of the IRS declined to estimate the number of persons who may be trying to cheat on their taxes, although one spokesman said such attempts seem to be running about the same level as in the past.

Congress To Push Health Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert observed the start of Congress' Easter break by issuing a statement of accomplishments and plans with national health insurance placed first on the list.

The statement was compiled after a joint meeting of the House and Senate Democratic leadership. It added to other indications that the congressional chiefs are trimming their overgrown agenda and aiming at enactment of a choice package of voter-appealing measures.

With impeachment matters likely to pre-empt much of its time between now and the November election, Congress is beginning to feel squeezed.

One of the items that could fall to the cutting-room floor is across-the-board tax reform. Only last year a concerted drive to close loopholes was being trumpeted by many as Congress' prime concern and assurances were given that the House Ways and Means Committee, which made a start early in 1973, would turn to it again early this year.

General tax reform does not even appear on Albert's list.

The Ways and Means Committee set tax reform aside last year at President Nixon's request to take up his foreign trade bill.

Ways and Means — the tax, trade and Social Security committee — did not go back promptly to the loophole-closing job. It sent a Social Security benefit increase on to enactment and then worked out a massive pension reform bill, which is now in conference for reconciliation with a Senate-passed measure.

Next the tax writers took up a limited tax bill with high topical appeal — a levy on crisscrossing windfall profits of oil companies.

Ready to be sent to the House when Congress returns, the bill sets stiff taxes on windfall profits, but allows oil

Americans 'Complacent' About Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Environmental Protection Agency says the end of the Arab oil embargo has prompted Americans to become "very complacent" again about conserving energy.

EPA Administrator Russel Train said Sunday there was too much emphasis on expanding supplies of energy rather than reducing demand. "I am concerned that with the cutoff of the Arab embargo the American public is going to go back to its wasteful ways," Train said on the CBS television program "Face the Nation."

"I think that we're very complacent about this, not really recognizing that we're in for a long-term energy problem in this country," he said.

We've got to make up our minds... that we better start giving the highest possible priority to reducing the use of energy."

Train said a switch to smaller cars is "probably the largest single energy savings that we could make."

Meanwhile, New England utilities today return their voltage to full power after a winter cutback to save fuel.

A spokesman for the New England Power Pool said the federal allocation system and ending of the oil embargo have stabilized the supply of fuel to the region's electric generating plants.

Beginning Nov. 27, utilities in the six-state area had imposed a 5 per cent voltage cut daily between 5 and 9 p.m.

Kissinger Talks To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was expected to give the United States government's qualified support today to the demands of less developed nations for greater participation in the use of the world's natural resources.

At the same time, Kissinger's speech to the United Nations General Assembly was to include an assertion of the industrialized world's claim to continued access to raw materials.

U.S. officials said the secretary's address would be relatively brief and would stress three things:

1. There is a need for a more equitable handling of the world's natural resources.

2. A solution must result from cooperative planning, and the less developed nations who hold raw materials should not seek a confrontation with the richer countries.

3. The General Assembly should avoid broad, grandiose declarations and work instead from a base of relatively narrow, practical agreements.

Before his speech, Kissinger was meeting with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, and afterward he was to attend a luncheon given by Waldheim for visiting foreign officials.

Kissinger also arranged meetings today with several other foreign ministers, including those from Morocco, Yugoslavia, Turkey and India.

Tonight, he and his wife Nancy were to be dinner guests of Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy. The secretary is scheduled to return to Washington on Tuesday.

companies to avoid payment of much of these by plowing the funds back into exploration and development of additional energy supplies. It also provides for a gradual phaseout of the controversial oil depletion allowance.

Meanwhile, there was a breakthrough in the years-long effort to form a winning coalition behind a plan for national health insurance at a price U.S. families could afford.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., proponents of opposing views, agreed on and introduced a compromise bill with less government participation than Kennedy previously had insisted on and more than Mills had favored.

Mills has announced plans for consideration of this legislation one day a week, with the rest of the time going to tax reform.

Battle Flares In Mideast

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Syrian gunners traded artillery and tank fire on the Golan Heights war front today after a weekend of the hardest fighting since the October war.

The Israeli military command said shelling resumed this morning along the northern sector of the 300-square-mile bulge captured by Israel during the October fighting.

The announcement made no mention of casualties.

The command also announced the appointment of Brig. Gen. Rafael Eytan, who led Israel's thrust into Syria in October, to command Israel's northern front with both Syria and Lebanon.

Eytan, who was promoted to major general, takes over from Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, who was promoted to chief of staff.

Israeli fighter-bombers on Sunday attacked Syrian forces on Mt. Hermon and the Golan Heights while below them the armies of the two countries battled fiercely with tanks and artillery.

The Israeli military command said all its planes returned safely Sunday, denying a Syrian claim that four were downed. Syria also claimed 50 Israeli ground troops were killed or wounded, but Israel said only 17 were wounded.

Syria said 15 of its soldiers were killed and 10 were wounded.

Israel said a Syrian commando unit made another unsuccessful attempt to capture an Israeli observation post at the northern end of 9,000-foot Mt. Hermon, which has an unrestricted view for 100 miles and more into Syria.

Later in the day, tanks and artillery duelled the length of the 40-mile front across the Golan Heights, and Israeli planes attacked the Syrian positions for four hours during the afternoon, the Israeli command said.

Meanwhile, the U.N. Security Council was to be called into session this afternoon to discuss the Israeli raid on six Lebanese villages Friday night. The raid was in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack from Lebanon last Thursday on an Israeli village in which 18 Israelis and the three guerrillas died.

Lebanon reported to the Council that "two Lebanese civilians were killed and others wounded, 13 Lebanese civilians were kidnapped and 31 houses destroyed" in the Israeli raid.

The council was expected to adopt a resolution later in the week condemning Israel, and Israel was expected to ignore it.

In Israel, President Ehpraim Katzir gave the Labor party 10 days to find a successor to Premier Golda Meir. He said if they didn't come up with one, he would call on the leader of the right-wing Likud block, Menahem Begin, to try.

The U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv reported to the State Department that Yitzhak Rabin, a 52-year-old hero of the 1967 war and a former ambassador to the United States, was the odds-on favorite for the premiership.

But veteran political observers in Jerusalem said Rabin is opposed by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, and an attempt to make him premier could split the party.

Steel Plan To Cost $31 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 50,000 steel workers are to benefit from $31 million in back wages to be paid out under an industry-wide plan for ending racial and sex discrimination in employment.

Government sources said the agreement, resulting from lengthy industry-government negotiations, was to be formalized today with the signing of a consent decree in U.S. District Court by officials of nine major steel firms.

The voluntary agreement is believed to mark the country's first industry-wide equal employment program and could set a pattern for similar programs in other industries.

The United Steelworkers Union, which holds contracts with the nine companies, agreed to contribute a share of the back wages.

In return for the voluntary agreement, the firms involved will be exempt from any equal opportunity employment suits for five years, sources said.

Under the agreement, elimination of seniority along racial lines in steel mills would be accompanied by setting of goals and timetables for the hiring and promotion of minority workers. The program also would eliminate sex-based discrimination.

The agreement calls for replacing the industry's current system of dual seniority with plant-wide seniority systems.

To counter sex discrimination, the steel firms agreed to make good-faith efforts to hire one woman for every four men added to the production and maintenance payroll.

The accord, which grew out of negotiations with the Equal Opportunity Commission and the Justice and Labor departments, would provide individual payments of back wages ranging from $250 to $1,000, with the average estimated at about $600.

The back pay would be divided among some 50,000 workers, mostly blacks, who went to work for the nine steel firms before 1968. Sharing in the money would be about 4,000 women employees.

In addition to the $31 million, implementing of the new seniority system may cost the industry millions of dollars more, sources said.

Firms covered by the agreement include U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, National, Armco, WheelingPittsburgh, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Allegheny Ludlum Industries.

The companies had initiated the talks with government officials last year after an increase of government equal-opportunity actions in the steel industry.

Inland Steel Co., headquartered in Indiana Harbor, Ind., declined to accept the voluntary program and dropped out of the negotiations. Sources said the government is expected to file suit against Inland.

Woman Lashes Out At Judge On Jury Duty Frustrations

DETROIT (AP) — Helen Mueller is a shy, 102-pound housewife who said she "really felt sort of proud" when she was called for federal jury duty.

But that was before she found out what jury duty was like.

After 20 days' service over three months, she stomped into U.S. District Court here to give Judge Fred W. Kaess a good bawling out.

"If I ever get in trouble, I'll never ask for a jury trial," she told the startled judge. "I don't want to be judged by a group of angry, frustrated people."

"We were herded around like animals, from one pen to another. Nobody says welcome, or tells you what the rules are, or what your rights are or what's going on around you. Most of the time you just sit, not knowing what it is you're waiting for."

"People become very resentful," Mrs. Mueller told the judge last week. "You'd be surprised how many jurors say they'll never vote again, because jurors names are drawn from the registered voters. I think that's terrible!"

Judge Kaess agreed and said a judicial committee was working on jury system reform.

The Drayton Plains woman said that the required 20 days of jury duty can stretch into six months if a juror is never chosen for a trial. So jurors stretch the truth a little during their examination just to get on a case and get the whole thing over with, she said.

"I don't mean the jurors lie," she said. "But for example, I've learned not to say what my husband's profession is. If I say he's a social worker, I'm excused right away. I learned very quickly to say he is a director for a family service agency. That's OK."

For another, the jurors aren't notified when a case is dismissed or settled out of court. "You might have to come in and sit all day only to be told to go home. And you never knew why," she said.

But Mrs. Mueller said the capper was the day she telephoned the emergency number to tell the court she couldn't show up because of a medical problem. She said she got a recorded message that told her what time to be on duty.

See Food Stamp Eligibility Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional staff study says rising food prices over the next two years may result in making one out of every four Americans eligible for government food stamps.

This would push program costs from the current $3 billion annually to a possible $10 billion, according to a staff study prepared for the Senate-House Economic Committee.

The study was released Sunday by Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., chairman of the joint committee's fiscal policy subcommittee.

"Unless food prices stabilize before July 4, 1976, an estimated 60 million Americans — more than one in four — might be eligible for food stamps at some time during the nation's bicentennial year," Mrs. Griffiths said in a statement.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices headed higher in the stock market today, attempting to snap out of the sluggish and drifting trend of the past two weeks.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers led losers by about a 5-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said it appeared hopes for an easing of the recent sharp rise of interest rates was prompting scattered buying.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Teleprompter, up 1/4 to 5 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, down 1/8 to 18 3/4; Atlantic Richfield, up 1/2 to 90 1/2, and CNA Financial, unchanged at 9 7/8.

National Cash Register, buoyed by a strong first quarter earnings gain, added 3/8 to 36 3/8.

Louisiana-Pacific, which announced that talks for the acquisition of Sierra Pacific Industries had been called off, was down 1/4 at 23 1/8.

On last week's final trading day, Thursday, prices were mixed as Big Board volume slumped to 9.97 million shares, its lowest total since last Aug. 27.

Elks Lodge Installs Officers

He succeeds James Henderson, 209 N. Scioto St.

Other officers installed were Lawrence Priest, leading knight; Robert Liggett, loyal knight; Charles Mowery, lecturing knight; Joseph Rooney Jr., chaplain; John Happenny, esquire; Kelley Barthelmas, inner guard; Bruce Liston, tiler; Dwight Weiler, secretary; Gene Lindsey, treasurer; Karl Drum, trustee; and Richard Plum, organist.

It was the 24th year Plum had been named organist of the lodge. His tenure stands as a local record.

Installing officers were members of the Past Exalted Rulers Assn. of Circleville. They included Marshall Winner, president of the group; Robert Wood, David Goldschmidt, Kenneth Robbins, Robert Huffer, John Moore, Paul Hang and Gunner Musselman.

The installation ceremony was preceded by a dinner served to lodge members and their guests by a committee headed by Harry Clifton Jr.

Following the installation, a dance was staged in the lodge room.

Gov. Gilligan Discloses Finances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan reported income of $45,875 in 1973 and paid federal income taxes totaling $11,501, a report showed today.

The report was issued by Gilligan himself, he said, "because I continue to believe that the people of Ohio and this national need to be reassured that their public officials are acting openly and honestly in all of their personal and public dealings."

Gilligan, in a joint return listing his wife, reported income from wages and other compensation of $39,884, dividends of $3,546, interest of $777 and other income of $1,668.

The "other income" category listed $2,125 from the sale or exchange of capital assets, business losses of $1,097, a state income tax refund of $140 and an honorarium of $500 from Harvard University.

Gilligan, a candidate for reelection in 1974, said this is the fourth year in a row he has released his income tax returns.

"I have stated repeatedly that five-years ago, I would have considered a request to make public my personal financial records an invasion of my privacy," the governor said in his statement.

"But in light of the scandals at all levels of government in recent years, climaxed by the continuing revelations growing out of the Watergate break-in, I now feel that the invasion of privacy is warranted if the people of this state and this nation are to regain their faith in their elected and appointed leaders."

Military Men Take Power In Niger

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — Radio reports heard here today said that military forces had taken over the government in Niger.

The reports from Niamey radio said Lt. Col. Seyni Kountie, chief of staff of the Niger armed forces, had taken power.

Niger has been one of the most stable of the former French colonies in Africa. Since its accession to independence in 1960, President Hamani Diori has been the only chief of state.

Niger is a landlocked nation of 490,000 square miles and a population of less than five million persons in north-central Africa.

The northern part of the country is in the southern reaches of the Sahara. The country has been hit hard by the severe drought that has afflicted the sub-Sahara in recent years.

The Niamey radio announcement said, "After 15 years of reign, marked by injustice, corruption, selfishness and indifference with regard to the people whose happiness it pretended to assure, the army can no longer tolerate the permanence of this oligarchy."

The announcement said that the constitution was suspended, the National Assembly dissolved and all political organizations were suppressed.

The radio said that all international engagements taken by the previous regime would be respected "on condition that they take into account the interests and dignity of our people."

3 Persons Marked For Death By Symbionese Liberationists

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The three persons marked for death by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army are trying to prove they are not FBI informers and have gone underground to avoid being "shot on sight."

SLA "death warrants" for Colston Westbrook, Chris Thompson and Robyn Steiner were included in the last communiqué from the group that claimed responsibility for kidnapping newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4.

SLA Field Marshal General Cinque issued the execution orders in the April 3 message, which also included Miss Hearst's declaration that she had joined her terrorist kidnapers and renounced her family.

The most frequent communication from the three targets has been from Westbrook, 35, a teaching assistant at University of California at Berkeley, whose greetings are played by automatic equipment for those who telephone his Berkeley home. The messages change frequently.

"Thanks for the telephone calls and support," said Westbrook's latest message Sunday. "I hope you have an enjoyable Easter."

Westbrook, who said he earlier had gone East but was back in the San Francisco Bay area, warned he would arm himself if the SLA did not listen to reason. He asked for a lie detector test or a trial with state prison inmates as jurors to clear his name.

Westbrook apparently came in contact with SLA members at Vacaville Medical Facility where he helped found a black cultural association for inmates.

Miss Steiner, 20, identified as a former girl friend of alleged SLA

Mitchell Questioning Nears End

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross-examination of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was expected to be completed today in his criminal conspiracy trial in U.S. District Court.

A tentative schedule for the remainder of the trial showed Mitchell's co-defendant, exCommerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, taking the stand possibly Tuesday or Wednesday.

Both sides in the trial, now in its ninth week, were expected to rest Thursday.

The two former Cabinet members, who resigned to run President Nixon's re-election campaign, are accused of impeding a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of Robert L. Vesco in return for his $200,000 cash contribution to the campaign.

Direct examination of Mitchell was interrupted Wednesday when Judge Lee P. Gagliardi called a prolonged weekend recess because of a death in a juror's family and Good Friday.

Taking the stand Wednesday, the 60-year-old Mitchell told the judge and jury under questioning by his attorney, Peter Fleming Jr.:

"I made the mistake of so many people make in getting into politics. I was invited to a meeting. It developed that in about four or five months, someone had to run the campaign. I was the unfortunate one."

JDC Bids Too High

Pickaway County Commissioner Dick T. Tootle today reported that bids for the proposed 6-county juvenile detention center to be built in Ross County were $100,000 over estimate.

Tootle represents Pickaway County on the detention center board. A cost estimate of $382,685 for construction and $25,000 for equipment has been approved for state and federal funding.

The low bid for the general contract was submitted by King Contracting. It was $297,000. Low bid for heating and air condition was $36,710 submitted by Circleville Iron and Metal. The low bid for plumbing was $77,000 submitted by Waverly Pipe. The low bid on the electrical contract was $74,904. Total of all contracts was $485,614.

Tootle reported that a study is being made to see if additional funding is available. He noted that if construction is not begun by June, funding for the project will be lost.

OU-C Presents Appalachian Drama, Song

The legend, history and song of Appalachia comprise the program which the Appalachian Green Parks Project will present to Ross County residents at 8 p.m. on April 17 when the Touring Company takes its show to the Chillicothe Branch of Ohio University.

The Appalachian Green Parks Project is a group of musicians, actors and singers who, through the media of drama and song, present the rich folklore of southeastern Ohio and West Virginia—an area known as Appalachia.

This touring project has drawn from the cultural wealth of this area and forged the material into a series of three programs to meet any of a number of performing situations. Audience participation is incorporated into state parks performances; a straight folk concert can be presented if requested and a two-and-one-half hour program of dramatized legends and songs combines enjoyment with learning. The latter program will be presented in the Chillicothe Branch auditorium.

The songs of the program are representative of the era between 1812 and 1918, a period depicting the changing conditions in the United States and in Appalachia in particular.

The Appalachian Green Parks Project is sponsored through the cooperation of the Ohio University School of Theater, Ohio Valley Summer Theater, Inc. and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The group is available for booking by contacting Robert Winters, School of Theater, 097 Radio-Television Building, Ohio University Athens, Ohio 45701.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,
Do you want to read some definitions of an American?
He will whip the enemy and then give them the shirt off his back.
He yells for the government to balance the budget, then takes his last dime to make the down payment on a car.
He knows the lineup of every baseball team in the major league, and doesn't know half of the words of the "Star Spangled Banner".
You know Americans at heart are pretty nice folks.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Teacher Lists Benefits

DEAR ABBY: As a teacher of 11th grade English, may I respond to the irate parent who objected to the "trashy" books his child was required to read in school? That letter could have been directed at me personally because I have recommended such widely accepted literary classics as "The Grapes of Wrath," "Brave New World," and the ever-controversial "Catcher In The Rye."

First of all, I respect the wishes of any parent who does not want his child to read certain books, and if the parent has the courage to let me know directly (and not through an anonymous phone call to my principal), I will gladly suggest some alternatives.

Second, I, like you, Abby, am also "turned off" by certain vulgar four-letter words, mainly because of my own straight-laced upbringing. However, I suggest that no one can judge a book by selecting isolated passages from it. For instance, both "Grapes of Wrath" and "Catcher in the Rye" deal with the importance of feeling a sense of concern and responsibility for one's fellowman.

I realize that this letter is probably much too long for your column but I feel so strongly about the value of presenting modern, readable and relevant books to our teenagers that I wish to air my views. As a teen-ager I never was nearly as excited about books as I am today and I attribute my lack of enthusiasm to the dull, "safe," uncontroversial books which were the typical fare for high school English classes back in the 50s.

I want more than anything else to create in my students a genuine desire to read, and that can be accomplished only by exposing them to thought provoking books that speak directly to them in modern language which, unfortunately, often includes a few words which happen to be offensive to me.

A TEACHER (I HOPE)

DEAR TEACHER: Well put. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: What do you say to a mother-in-law who insists on naming our unborn SON? (If it's a daughter-no problem.)

Doesn't she know that the baby's name should be decided by the baby's mother and father?

This is our first child and we are hoping for a boy, but this situation is making me secretly want a girl! Hurry your answer. I hope it gets here before the baby does.

MOM-IN-WAITING

DEAR MOM: No one can name your baby without your consent. When the baby arrives, don't "say" anything, do your own naming, and don't apologize.

DEAR ABBY: Why should parents of the bride pay for the wedding? I know the book of etiquette says they should-but that's not a good enough reason.

My father made it clear to his daughters that he would double mortgage his home to give us all college educations, but as for weddings he'd buy us a ladder. I didn't take the college education, and when it came time for me to marry, my fiance and I decided to have a big wedding at our own expense.

Working together for a common goal taught us about the responsibilities we were going to have to face as husband and wife. After a year of scrimping and saving, we had a beautiful formal wedding with all the trimmings. We were so proud of ourselves!

Six years later, we are in our own home, with baby number two on the way. Everything we have we both worked for and we don't have to thank anyone but God for it. I want to say a big thank you to my father for making that decision and sticking to it. That was the best gift he ever gave me.

HAPPY IN N.J.

DEAR HAPPY: Three cheers for Dad. And hooray for you and your husband. Young lovers, take note!

When Kate's brother became a widower, she moved in with him and took over the care of his household. Three years later, he too passed away. At the probate of his estate Kate put in a claim for "services rendered."

"Although my brother and I never discussed money," she told the court, "I just took it for granted that eventually I would be paid for my work. After all, I didn't have to do it. I was not my brother's keeper."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The court said the natural presumption was that Kate had helped her brother for reasons of affection, not money. If she expected payment, added the court, she should have made that clear from the start.

Questions of this kind arise often in probate proceedings, when claims for services rendered to the deceased must be dealt with. As a rule, the closer the relationship between the claimant and the deceased, the more likely the court is to say that the services were given free.

But the individual circumstances can make a big difference. In another case, a man sought payment for carpentry, painting, and cement work he had done on the house of his late brother.

This time, the brothers had been living separately, with their own separate families. In this situation, the court decided that the claimant could reasonably have expected to be paid, even without any agreement to that effect.

The extent of the services, too, may be a factor. A sister who took over the management of her brother's home also took over the burdensome task of nursing him. He was seriously ill, and needed almost constant attention.

After his death, a judge ruled that the sister was indeed entitled to wages for her efforts. The judge said that even for a loving sister, this was an extraordinary amount of service. A Pickaway County Bar Assn. An American Bar and Ohio State Bar public service feature by Will Bernard.

Hearings On Budget Boost Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings before the Senate Finance Committee are expected to begin soon on a Republican proposal to add about $56 million to Ohio's $10 billion budget for 1973-1975.

Its chances look slim.
Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, chairman of the Senate committee, and Rep. Fred N. Young, R-38 Dayton, ranking Republican of the House Finance Committee, are leading the push for a supplemental appropriations bill when the legislature returns after the May 7 primary election.

They claim state revenues are running considerably higher than were estimated when the legislature passed the appropriations bill in June, 1973.

The $56 million figure is their estimate of the alleged surplus at the end of the biennium June 30, 1975.

Dennis and Young want to split up the money in several ways with the major item being repeal of the state's 5 per cent personal intangibles tax on investment earnings. That would take $30 million.

They also would increase the personal exemption under the state income tax from $500 to $600. That would demand $7 million by cutting the state's tax take.

School subsidies would be extended to Ohio's middle cities in the amount of $3.4 million, a program for transporting mentally retarded pupils would get $5.4 million, special regional education training centers $2.5 million, funds for family practice departments in medical schools $1 million and the homestead property tax exemption would be increased by $3.5 million.

No sooner had Dennis and Young announced their plan at a news conference than the administration of Gov. John J. Gilligan and Democratic legislators set up a howl.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, denied the existence of such a surplus. He said the proposal was "somewhat surprising...in view of shortfalls in tax collections" during January, February and March of this year.

Olsen said that during March — for which Dennis and Young did not request figures—"the state's revenues fell $15.1 million below estimates, even after providing for the transfer of revenue sharing funds and the accrual of March liquor profits."

"There is no reason to presume that the state will realize greater than estimated revenues," said Olsen. "There is every reason to be concerned about a continuing decline."

A Page Of Opinion

4,964 Years To Go

How much did the average person imagine the world would change in 5,000 years when, back in 1938, a capsule was buried 50 feet in the earth to preserve the details of man's condition then for the enlightenment of the Earth's inhabitants in the year 6938?

The 7½-foot torpedo-like capsule in which the record was entombed at Flushing, N.Y., was the brainchild of Westinghouse. Its record of the time was intended to tell the history, arts, sciences and customs of the peoples alive in 1938.

Archeologists, historians and authorities in virtually every field of science, medicine and arts, in selecting its contents, gathered together everything from a slide rule to a woman's hat as well as microfilm recordings of millions of words of printed matter and several reels of sound newsreels.

Many persons probably had doubts at the time that this effort was really necessary. Perhaps it occurred to them that those future times would pass down by other means whatever might be worth remembering about 1938 and earlier.

If so, it may be of interest to spend a moment looking at some of the strides the world has taken in the 36 years since the capsule was buried. Already much that seemed important then has lost importance. Two new ages have been ushered in — the age of the atom and the age of outer space.

All this and 4,964 years to go before the capsule will tell its story. Will it be of interest in that future time? Thirty-six years ago it was assumed that it would be — and also that it would seem strange to those to receive it — but today, less than four decades later, it must be asked whether anything can be assumed.

A Glance Heavenward

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Speaking of resurrections, an anthologist asks me to join with a lot of other cosmic thinkers and write a few paragraphs on what I think life in the hereafter will be like.

The anthologist seems to believe there's a pretty good chance I'll detour Hell and Purgatory and hit the pink cloud and harp belt that floats at a higher altitude. That's a pretty daring assumption, but this is no time to knock it. I've got certain credentials. One is the Salvation Army's Humanitarian Award which was presented to me the other night in Palm Beach, Fla. The citation was crystal clear: I was given the award for never having tripped a Salvation Army lassie while she was playing her cornet. There was also the time I took Toots Shor home. We had been at the party so long, his clothes had gone out of style.

I figure Heaven must be a place where you cannot dial (212) 999-3838 and listen to a recording of Henry Youngman telling jokes about his wife.

It must be a place without politicians, or people who greet you with "long time no see."

Five will get you ten that there are no alimony jails in heaven, or preachers who insist on rewriting Abraham, Moses, Confucius, Christ, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Paul, Thomas Aquinas, Mohammad, Martin Luther and Martin Luther King.

I'd be surprised if there was even one leaky basement Up There, or any car mechanics, TV repairmen, or doctors who won't make house calls when the kids are yelping with the yaws.

If there is auto traffic in Heaven I'd expect the roads would be cleared, somehow, of jerks who drive too fast, honk too loud, and have ten for the road. Then get the ticket fixed.

I'd suppose by this time that somebody in Heaven has come up with a no-call Scotch; a method of keeping the ball down the middle; and dropping 15-foot putts.

Heaven must be a place that never heard of a discotheque, a massage parlor, a Saturday night special, kidnappers, skyjacks, pushers, or one of the earth's greatest plagues — the pizza.

Since man first stood upright and scraped his thoughts on the wall of his cave, he has been having visions of a Heaven of some sort which one day he might attain and live happily ever after — even though he might run into several of his ex-wives and mothers-in-law. He has never been able to describe it.

Shakespeare, among others, gave up: To gild refined gold, to paint the lily, To throw a perfume on the violet,

To smooth the ice, or add another hue Unto the rainbow, or with taper-light To seek the beauteous eye of Heaven to garish, Is wasteful and ridiculous excess.

Robert Browning could not have been too sure of his facts when he wrote, "God's in his Heaven: All's right with the world." Alfred, Lord Tennyson was equally fuzzy when he penned, "Marriages are made in Heaven." Perhaps Thomas Moore said it all: "The Heaven of each is but what each desires."

The anthologist had another request: Who would you like to meet in Heaven? Name five.

Well, I'd like to meet the Chairman of the Board and His Son, the Chief Executive Officer, and the Son's mother. But I imagine they are all tied up, listening to so many false pledges and selfish requests from earth. So I think I'd look around for five less esteemed residents, after crashing the party gates during Peter's nap.

I'd like to have an interview with

Lincoln, about Watergate. Questions like, "What would you do if you were in Nixon's shoes?" Also, "Do you think the Emancipation Proclamation should be extended to free the Puerto Ricans, Cubans, Chicanos, and those who lammed during the Vietnam War?" "Did you ever really love Mary Todd?"

Big George Washington would be on the list of five, of course. "How would you handle the repetitious wars in the Middle East?" "How did you get in here after that whopper you told about throwing a buck across the Rappahannock?"

Next, Henry Mencken, I guess, just to sympathize with him for being unable to make it back to earth long enough to cover Sen. Sam Ervin's committee and hear with his own ears the questions asked by Senators Weicker and Montoya.

Then I'd look up my mother and father, wish them a happy Easter, and thank them for not believing in planned parenthood.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — More than two factors are holding down the stock market but you'd find yourself with a following if you chose only two: High interest rates and the activities of institutions.

High rates mean that bonds compete with stocks for the investment dollar, reducing the flow of money that in more normal times might be expected to tend in the direction of equities.

Moreover, high interest rates cut into the profits of corporations by adding to costs, just as do increases in labor or raw material prices.

The activities of institutions, it is argued, are resulting in a two-tier market, with shares of a favored group of less than 100 companies attracting considerable interest and the rest of the market little interest at all.

Officers of some companies complain that they simply cannot interest portfolio managers of the institutions — mutual and pension funds, bank trusts and insurance companies — in the attractiveness of their wares.

In addition, they contend that when the institutions do become involved with shares of some of the smaller and lesser known companies they tend to dominate the market and sometimes produce sharp price movements.

"These practices alienated — and still do — the small investors and harmed many well-managed second- and third-tier companies," said C.V.

Wood, Jr., chairman of the Committee of Publicly Owned Companies earlier this month.

The committee, observing its first anniversary, is made up of 632 corporations with total assets of more than $55 billion and 2.5 million shareholders whose shares are traded on most of the big exchanges.

Wood noted that for the second straight year, there are 800,000 fewer shareholders of American companies. Indicative of lagging interest in the market, only 99 new issues were marketed in 1973 compared with 568 in 1972.

This lack of interest in stocks has led to some of the lowest price-earnings multiples in decades. The committee claims that three-fifths of "leading" companies have multiples below 10, meaning their shares are priced at less than 10 times earnings.

Multiple problems result from low price-earnings multiples, and it's anyone's choice as to which are the worst.

For one thing, corporations badly need equity capital in order to maintain and expand their plants and equipment. The committee estimates that between now and 1985 the country will need $3.3 trillion in new capital simply to provide jobs and goods for an expanding population.

A problem of perhaps equal magnitude is that many of the companies in the second tier have stock prices so depressed that they are increasingly the target of takeovers by foreign concerns.

Impeachment Call Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — A "narrow plurality" of Americans for the first time want President Nixon impeached or removed from office, pollster Louis Harris says.

His firm's latest survey, released Friday, showed 43 per cent in favor of both actions, 41 per cent against and 16 per cent undecided.

The poll of 1,495 families nationwide was conducted between March 24 and 29, before a congressional committee said Nixon owed some $465,000 in back federal income taxes.

"It is fair to conclude that the American people now want the full procedures of the Constitution regarding impeachment to be invoked against President Nixon," Harris said.

Seventy-two per cent of those polled gave Nixon negative marks on the way he is cooperating with the impeachment proceedings.

Ford Office Denies Veep Is Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald R. Ford's office says it is upset with an allegation that the vice president talks like a man who is laying plans to assume the presidency.

Press Secretary Paul Miltich confirmed that Ford discussed who his aides might be if he became president for an article in the New Republic magazine — but said Ford first emphasized that he does not expect to be president.

Miltich said he is less upset with the article than with New York Times columnist William Safire's criticism that "it is unseemly for the vice president to be confiding his plans for the assumption of power while the body of the sitting president is still warm."

Safire's account, Miltich said, "makes it sound like Ford is waiting in the wing frothing at the mouth wanting to be president. This is just not an accurate characterization."

Ford has been willing to answer speculative questions on what he might do as president, Miltich said, because of the inherent responsibility of any vice president to be able to succeed to the presidency.

Ford has said repeatedly that he does not plan to run for president in 1976.

AT&T Line Rate Hike Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has postponed for 60 days implementation of a new rate structure that would boost bills for customers who lease telephone lines for private use, including news services and the federal government.

The new rates were to have gone into effect this Sunday, but AT&T delayed the action at the request of the Federal Communications Commission, which wants more time to study them.

The postponement was announced Friday in a news release from AT&T headquarters.

About 19,000 businesses, industrial firms and governmental agencies would be affected by the change in rates proposed early this year.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told to stop smoking because I get cramps in my legs. I can't see the connection between the two.

Mr. R. E., Mich.

I have always emphasized to my readers that when they understand the reasons for any treatment they are more likely to rigidly follow the doctor's instructions.

Unless it is clear to them, the chances are great that they will casually disregard the importance of those instructions.

It is well established that the toxic agents in cigarettes are responsible for the contraction of the blood vessels in the body. It is this contraction and the narrowing of the arteries that cut down on the free flow of blood.

When the muscles of the legs are deprived of the oxygen that normally is carried in the blood stream, they go into spasm, and severe pain results.

The oxygen requirements of the muscles of the legs are no different from that of the heart muscle and other organs of the body.

While cigarette smoking is not the only reason for blood circulatory

disturbances, it is a most important one.

Some people are particularly subject to tobacco toxicity and develop Burger's Disease, a special circulatory problem of major importance.

There now are a great many tests by which the blood flow of the arteries can be measured.

The oscillometer is a highly sensitive instrument which can measure the pulsations of the arteries in the foot and leg.

Electronic thermometers, when applied to the skin, can measure the slightest diminution of temperature. This is a guide to the reduced flow of blood to the extremities.

Anyone subject to the leg cramps you describe who continues to smoke is toying with his health and possibly his life.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Nonfunctioning pilot lights in gas ovens can cause explosions. The accumulation of nonodorous gas is a major hazard within the "safety" of the home.

Still Has Magic

By JIM BISHOP

At last the big room grew silent. The sparkling crystal chandeliers sat around snowy tables, bosoms heaving. Their husbands dressed like penguins. The tiny blue spotlight cast a cone over all the diners and picked up the tough, beaming face of Frank Sinatra. The show was on.

He was working for nothing, so he worked his tail off. Seventeen hundred of the rich paid $360,000 to help Saint Jude's Hospital in Memphis. The sick children were far away and, hopefully, sleeping. This was the Fontainebleau Hotel at Miami Beach.

The big orchestra rapped out a few bars of "Rainy Day" and Sinatra's patent leather shoe picked up the beat, the head began to sway, and the throaty notes came up a cascade of pure water. It was like old times, and sometimes better than old times.

The Prince of Light was in command, and command is the word. The old ladies and the young snapped their fingers to the rhythm, jerked their heads and slapped their sequined thighs. By the time he reached "My Kind of Town," he urged the band to split the room with sound and he came up over it, shouting the words.

The rich men came to their feet, an unusual standing ovation in the middle of a chorus. For a moment, there was an empty chair next to me and ghost of Joe E. Lewis slid into it, touching his lips for me to be quiet. This was his song, his Chicago, and he needed to hear it just once more.

He used to cry listening. The dead are tearless. He grinned and applauded silently as Sinatra took a Scotch from the piano and drank it during a four-bar rest. Joe Robbie, owner of the Dolphins, hummed the words like an owl afraid to say, "Who?"

Leo Durocher ran a bald palm over a bald head and remembered and remembered. Mike Douglas, a star without envy, cupped his hands to shout approval. By the time Frank tossed a tender whisper to "Send in the Clowns," the ladies tried to rush the stage with their cameras.

Some critics say his pipes are gone, but that's like saying the Pieta is not as great as when it was new. Mr. Sinatra is 56 and it's a long way, baby, from Hoboken. He fought all the battles, climbed all the cliffs, earned all the money and worked out a high standard of loyalty to his friends.

He took bows, walked off to thunder and returned shrugging. "I didn't come all this way to sing four numbers," he said. The orchestra ripped through "That's Life!" and "I've Got You Under My Skin," and the people acted like animals when they heard the old standards.

The Prince of Light is no Jolson, cracking old notes like nuts to win applause from those who weep for their youth. Oh, no. Command is the word, and when he loses that magical presence which brings the cooks tiptoeing in from the kitchen, he will quit and probably break all the old records which could break his heart.

The people did not pay $360,000 primarily to help St. Jude's Hospital. These are the jades who will pay to see something they can't buy. "I get a kick out of you," he snapped, and that's what they were getting from Sinatra.

He was no forlorn has-been, dusted off to stand in that baby blue spotlight and act as a misty headstone of another time, another place. He was there to sing his guts out, and he hung them on every word of every lyric until they begged him to sing all night.

The band began to tire. In the middle of "Bad, Bad Leroy Brown," he lifted his arm a couple of times to bring the brass up smartly. Then he wiped out the last note with a snarl, and walked slowly off. They stood, they howled, they whistled. Sinatra did not come back.

The spirit was fatigued. Backstage, he put an arm around Jilly, the restaurateur who blocks for Frankie, and a policeman opened the way and took him to an elevator. He walked into a suite of rooms and dropped into a chair. "Shut the phone service off," he said huskily.

Far below the hotel window, the waves curled in with a sound and rhythm of their own. They had it long before anyone heard of Frank Sinatra, and they'll have it long after he has been forgotten.

But right now — in this century — the people pay to hear him, not them. He's more than a voice; more than a great stubborn talent. In a manner I cannot describe, Sinatra commands you to listen. I guess he is everybody's good years . . .

Vice President Enjoys Sunshine

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford enjoyed warm sunshine as he and his wife relaxed at the estate of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain.

Two Westfall Girls Candidates In Pageant

The Columbus Rose Subcommission reports that Jill Long, Route 1, New Holland and Myra Jean Horn, Route 3, Orient, have been accepted as candidates in the Annual Maiden of Roses Pageant, June 15 and 16.

JILL LONG

The pageant offers up to $1,000 in a scholarship to the winner, made possible by the Columbus Rose Foundation.

MYRA JEAN HORN

Miss Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Long, plans to attend Otterbein College while Miss Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Horn, plans to attend the Riverside Hospital School of Radiology. In its 20th year, the pageant selects a Maiden of Roses and court of four primarily on the basis of school and community activities. Poise and beauty are also important as the girls will represent the Park at parades and special events throughout the coming year. The pageant is open to any girl graduating from high school this year with plans to enter an accredited school of higher education. The girls will be interviewed by all members of the selection committee, June 15 and then attend a noon luncheon and evening dance. Activities Sunday will begin 2:30 p.m. with the parade on North High Street to the Park; a concert at 4 p.m. and the Pageant at 5:30 p.m. The activities are open to the public.

Jazz Concert Scheduled On Radio And TV

WOSU and the College of the Arts today announced a live stereo-colorcast of the OSU Jazz Ensemble under the direction of Tom Battemberg. On May 13, "Jazz from Tomorrow" will mark the first occasion that WOSU-TV and WOSU-FM will have combined to broadcast simultaneously a live event in stereo on WOSU-FM at 89.7 and in color on Channel 34, WOSU-TV.

This special one-hour concert will originate from The Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on The Ohio State University campus and is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

This broadcast comes about as a result of the enthusiastic audience response received after WOSU-FM's live broadcast of the OSU Jazz Ensemble concert with Urbie Green in February.

Fugio Cent Was First U.S. Coin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first coin authorized by the United States Congress was the 1787 Fugio cent. The Latin inscription Fugio, in conjunction with a sundial, supposedly was to signify "time flies." The coin also bore the terse, strictly American admonition: "Mind your business."

Red Cross Shelters Now Empty

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Red Cross shelters that housed up to 8,200 persons following a killer tornado that destroyed half of this town 11 days ago were empty today, a spokesman said. The last three families which used the temporary homes moved out Sunday after finding permanent dwellings in the area.

Meanwhile, a contingent of military police of the Ohio National Guard was held over until today to prevent looting which has increased in the past week.

The troops were scheduled to be sent home Sunday. Reliefs were expected today.

Xenia residents were alerted to another possible tornado Sunday as the National Weather Service issued a tornado warning for the area about midday.

About 80 federal disaster workers and applicants for relief at one of the shelters moved into the basement of a school when a funnel cloud was sighted, relief coordinator Jim Kautzman said.

The cloud remained aloft and there was no damage, he said.

Bernstein's 'Mass' Presented By OSU

Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" will be presented by the Ohio State University College of the Arts at Mershon Auditorium on May 17-18. Tickets are on sale now for the 8 p.m. performances of one of the most exciting events of the arts in Central Ohio.

This controversial theater piece for singers, dancers, players and orchestra is like no other that has ever been written. Though plotless, the work portrays a priest gathering his flock around him for the celebration of Mass.

It includes a group of dancers, two rock bands, a 60-voice choir, a 30-voice chorus and a group of street people including flower children.

Conservationists See Substitutes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whale meat is still used for food, and whale oil goes into the manufacture of cosmetics, soap, shoe polish, margarine and other products. But with the great herds now gone, conservationists argue that substitute materials are available.

Europe No Longer Grain Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Europe, one of the world's largest markets for U.S. farm products, is rapidly on its way to becoming self-sufficient in grain and may move into international markets as an exporter much sooner than earlier expected.

The march by Europe toward self-sufficiency in grain was analyzed today in an Agriculture Department report. It was written by Donald M. Phillips Jr., a foreign demand specialist in the department's Economic Research Service.

Phillips cautioned, however, that estimates for European production — centered in European Community countries — are subject to change. But he acknowledged that "it is already

Airplane Crash Kills 3 Persons At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials are investigating the cause of the crash Saturday of a Piper Cherokee 140 that resulted in the deaths of three persons.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the victims as Roderick C. Long, 26, Bainbridge, a flight instructor; David L. Wolery, 35, Portsmouth, a student pilot, and William Ray Crater, 36, Dayton, a passenger.

A spokesman for the patrol said the aircraft was starting a flight to Portsmouth when it crashed on takeoff and burst into flames.

The plane was owned by the Mid-America Pilot School, Columbus.

Tommy Sands Weds Secretary

HONOLULU (AP) — Tommy Sands, teen-aged singing idol and actor of the 1950s and 1960s, has married a Honolulu secretary.

The ceremony was Sunday at the Kawaiahao Church here.

Sands, 36, married Sheila Wallace, 24, in the second marriage for each. She has two children by a previous marriage.

Sands is currently trying a singing comeback at a Waikiki nightclub after a four-year retirement. His last million-seller recording was "I'll Be Seeing You" in 1966. He appeared in the film "The Violent Ones" in 1967 and until recently had been conducting dinner and nightclub tours at Waikiki nightspots.

evident" grain production is growing faster than forecast earlier by U.S. experts.

The impact on U.S. agriculture, if Europe attains self-sufficiency and becomes a net grain exporter, could be severe, the report indicated.

Phillips cited a recent study made by Prof. F. Uhlmann of the West German Institute of Agricultural Marketing Research. Uhlmann calculated the original six members of the Community — Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands and West Germany — will "attain virtual self-sufficiency" by 1975 and could be exporting as much as four million metric tons of grain by 1985.

Including the nine member countries — Denmark, Ireland and Britain are recent newcomers — Uhlmann said the community could grow enough grain for its own needs by 1985.

Bryce Harlow Ends Nixon Post

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Bryce N. Harlow has ended his job as White House counselor.

Harlow was officially off the job Sunday. He began working at the White House when President Nixon took office in January 1969, left in June 1970 and returned last June to help the President through Watergate and other problems.

He returned to the Proctor & Gamble Manufacturing Co. as a vice president.

Phillips noted that other studies of European agriculture also have pointed toward the community becoming a diminished market for U.S. farmers in the near future.

A projection by Phillips' own agency showed recently that the European Community's purchase of foreign grain probably will drop to 1.3 million metric tons by 1985.

Phillips said U.S. grain sales to the community in 1972-73 totaled 13.3 million metric tons worth more than $900 million. During the first seven months of the current fiscal year, which began last July 1, shipments were 8.1 million tons.

"While the EC probably will continue to import some highquality U.S. wheat as well as large quantities of corn, an over-all sharp decline in U.S. grain exports to the community seems inevitable, given the continuation of existing policies," Phillips said.

Researchers Improve Shrimp

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unlikely exchange of skills between federal fishery biologists and University of Arizona researchers in greenhouse environments for desert areas may lead to improvements in the culture of shrimp.

Most efforts to raise shrimp under seminatural conditions have been only moderately successful. Now experts from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration feel that the new "greenhouse" techniques may eliminate predators, competitors and adverse weather.

Lottery Commission Seeks Headquarters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Selection of a location in Cleveland for permanent headquarters of the new Ohio Lottery Commission will be the subject of a meeting Tuesday in the lakeside city.

The commission's executive director, John Kirkland, said two sites were under consideration as headquarters—the University Circle Research Center near Case Western Reserve University and the Ernest J. Bohn Towers in the downtown area.

David Leahy, the commission's chairman, said both sites are viewed as excellent locations.

University Circle Research Center Corp. owns the campus site, and the other building is a public housing project for the elderly, with office space on the lower floors. It is owned by the Rockwell Development Co.

The headquarters can be in business in 60 days, once a decision is made, Leahy said.

He has said before ticket sales will begin in late July.

The Ohio Ethics Commission, in the meantime, is expected to decide within the next few months on a possible conflict of interest involving a member of the commission, Louis S. Goldman of Dayton.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, earlier this year, asked the ethics panel to determine whether Goldman's position as a senior partner in a Dayton law firm violated Ohio's new ethics law.

It was noted at the time Goldman's firm does business with several state agencies, including the Ohio Department of Taxation and the state Board of Tax Appeals.

The General Assembly last year passed a code of ethics outlawing any public officeholder from practicing law before state agencies.

Goldman himself raised the conflict of interest question in a Jan. 7 letter to Gilligan, and offered his resignation at the governor's discretion.

Campaign records showed the next day, Jan. 8, Gilligan's reelection campaign got a $3,000 contribution from Goldman.

The governor two days later said he would seek ethics commission advice before acting on the matter.

The commission's director, Jerome Bahlmann, said a decision in the case probably won't be made for several months.

KIWANIS EGG HUNT—These children are off and hunting at South Court Street School, one of three locations where Circleville Kiwanis held its annual easter egg hunt Saturday. A total of 2,500 chocolate filled plastic eggs plus $40 in quarters and silver dollars were hidden at South Court, Atwater School and Ted Lewis Park. There is still a $1 slip missing according to John Raterman. It may be redeemed by calling him at 474-8529. Dollar winners were: Cheryl Barton, Ranae Greenlee, Mark Dauber, Mathew Ramey, Russell Pairan, David Perkins, Ronda Neal, William Tootle, Bill Buris, Angie Uhl, Cindy Bingham, Tracy VanHoose, Daryl Heeter, David Lanman and Shauna Fausnaugh.

State School Funding Shows Big Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State funding of public school operations in Ohio increased by $656 million, or 54 per cent, over the previous two-year budget period, the state Department of Education reports.

But, said the Buckeye Association of School Administrators, despite the dramatic climb in money for schools since passage of a state income tax, educators aren't convinced their problems are solved.

No less than 227 school districts in Ohio plan to ask voters for more money this year, a BASA survey showed. And 128 others indicate they'll try to pass new levies next year.

Said a BASA spokesman: The figures "tell us there is a critical need for money" in schools in the state.

Paul Spayde, a assistant state superintendent of schools, said the General Assembly for the 1969-70 fiscal period provided education with $494.3 million.

The income tax was passed in 1971, Spayde said, and the General Assembly upped its appropriation by 20.1 per cent, to $643.4 million.

Records show for last fiscal year, with the tax collections on income coming in for the first time, another substantial increase, of 18.6 per cent, to an appropriation of $763.2 million.

The state will pump a record $828.9 million into schools this year, Spayde said, and will allocate another $858.5 million for next year.

Spayde said even with the extra money, local school districts will pay most of the school expenses.

In Ohio, local school districts pay 59 per cent of school costs, he said, while the state provides 36 per cent and the federal government chips in 5 per cent.

He said this is only a little better than before passage of the income tax, when local government paid 64 per cent of the education bill and the state 30 per cent.

The BASA said school superintendents may have "oversold the tax as a cure-all" for school finance problems in urging passage of the income levy.

One problem, the BASA said, is that much of the additional money may have been eaten up by inflation.

Oil Costs May Affect Lakes Ships

DETROIT (AP) — The opening of the Great Lakes shipping season brought mixed opinions about how oil costs will affect the port of Detroit and the entire Great Lakes region.

Some shipping industry officials predict the high cost of oil will prompt many ocean vessels to bypass Detroit and dock at coastal ports to conserve fuel.

Still others predicted the high volume trading in oil and grain will cause a scarcity of ships on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

They said they believe owners of vessels will choose to race their ships back and fourth between U. S. coastal cities and overseas ports rather than tie them up in longer voyages into the lakes.

But William A. Filbin Sr., president of the Detroit Customs Brokers Association, painted a less dismal picture for Detroit.

"The amount of commerce going directly out of Detroit by ship is decreasing. But the number of transactions—the overall commerce—is as good or better than ever," he said.

A spokesman for St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. predicted more ocean vessels would enter the seaway because of favorable American-Canadian prices for fuel.

He contends operators may plan voyages to take advantage of North America fuel prices rather than scheduling fuel stops in higher-priced Europe, Africa or Japan.

Diplomat Dies

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jefferson Caffery, 87, ranked as dean of the United States diplomatic corps before his retirement in 1955, died Saturday. Caffery held the rank of ambassador for 20 years — longer than any other American foreign service officer. Upon his retirement, his career was called "brilliant" by President Eisenhower.

Ohio Income Shows Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reports personal income climbed 8 per cent in the 12-month period between February 1973 and the same month this year.

Income in February in Ohio, seasonally adjusted, amounted to $56.3 billion, the center said.

The center said all eight major city-county areas of the state reported payroll increase in the 12-month period except Akron and Dayton. Both experienced 3 per cent drops in income in February-February period, the center said.

Increase ranged from 8 per cent in Canton down to 1 per cent in Youngstown.

The center said payrolls in the construction industry in the state jumped 19 per cent in the year-long period under study, while payrolls for production workers and non-supervisory employees climbed by 2 per cent.

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon was met with applause and given a decorated egg after Easter services.

Nixon, his wife, Pat, daughter and son-in-law Tricia and Edward Cox and his friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo attended services Sunday at the Community Church near the Florida White House. The Rev. J. A. Youngsters applauded and shouted "Happy Easter" as the Nixon party left the church. Ten-year-old Martha Hutcheson presented the President with a decorated, purple egg.

Rebel Rockets Hit Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Rebel gunners fired three rockets into Phnom Penh's southern suburbs today. One round hit the asphalt by the front gate of the presidential palace and the other two crashed into a nearby home, wounding three persons, police said.

Field reports said insurgent troops stormed into a government outpost eight miles south of Phnom Penh before dawn, but its garrison had fled during the night.

The bodies of eight government soldiers were reportedly left behind.

The outpost, which is only two miles from Takhmau, a southern suburb of Phnom Penh, had been under attack for five days, the Cambodian command said. It said intelligence reports indicated the rebels have been moving artillery into the region to strike Phnom Penh.

The Khmer Rouge fired five rockets into the southern part of Phnom Penh on Sunday. No casualties were reported, but two rockets landed near the presidential palace and the American Embassy.

It was the capital's second rocket attack in two days.

Heavy fighting also was reported around rebel-held Oudong, 23 miles north of Phnom Penh where government troops were trying to break out of a beachhead on the Tonle Sap River

Crash Story Said False

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The flight controller at New Caledonia's international airport today denied a report that a jet airliner had crashed into the sea off the French island in the South Pacific.

Major airlines servicing New Caledonia said none of their planes was missing. A full alert was ordered but was called off after all aircraft in the vicinity were accounted for.

Pierre Dubosq, the flight controller at Contouta Airport in New Caledonia, said a small airport 50 miles from Contouta reported receiving a distress signal from a small plane.

He said the pilot reported engine failure was causing him to lose altitude and he might have to land in the sea.

The nationality, type of plane and the pilot's name were not known.

Agence France Presse, the French news agency, reported in Paris that an airliner had made a crash landing north of New Caledonia, and 160 survivors had taken to lifeboats.

The French news agency said the plane was a Pan American airliner.

Mississippi Floods Bring Death To 7

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Seven persons were dead and thousands were temporarily homeless today after weekend floods in southern Mississippi.

The floods were fueled by torrential rains which began Friday and continued nonstop through Sunday, ranging up to more than 16 inches in areas.

Bridges were washed away and many roads were closed in the flood area, which stretched 150 miles across the state from the Mississippi River on the west to the Alabama border on the east and as far north as Jackson.

The National Guard was called out to help with evacuations in Columbia and Hattiesburg, and a state civil defense spokesman in Jackson said the number of persons evacuated probably would approach 3,000.

No major rains were predicted for the area through Tuesday, but some rivers had not yet crested.

Forrest County Civil Defense Director Harold Hill said the Bowie River is expected to reach a record 32 feet today. It rose to only 31 feet during a damaging flood in 1961.

Most residents of the small Greene County community of McLain had left their homes by Sunday evening, one resident said.

"There is no point in waiting," she said. "They lost so much the last time (in the 1961 flood), that they have moved everything out and up to higher ground already."

At Hattiesburg, officials said at least 500 persons were housed in five Red Cross and Salvation Army Centers Sunday night.

Between 200 and 300 persons were forced out of their homes Sunday in the low-lying Morgantown area near Columbia. Some 100 to 150 persons evacuated homes in other parts of Marion County.

3 Children Injured In Accident

Three children were injured in a three-car accident on Route 23 at 3:20 p.m. Sunday. Injured were two-year-old Shane Mayberry, one-year-old Tricia Brown and 15-year-old Zane W. Wright. The two younger children received visible injuries and Wright complained of injuries after a three-car collision at the intersection of Route 23 and 316.

According to the report taken by Ptl. Dean A. Harrison of the State Highway Patrol, a car driven by Charles E. Brown, 23, Columbus, was stopped in traffic intending to make a left turn on to Route 316. A second vehicle driven by Harry G. McIntyre, 48, Marysville, came to a stop behind him. Barry Lee Mayberry, 23, Powell, was unable to stop and struck the McIntyre car in the rear which in turn collided into the Brown vehicle.

Mayberry was cited by the officer for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Fighting Marks Easter Holiday

Roman Catholics, Protestants and Orthodox Christians all celebrated Easter in Jerusalem on Sunday.

In Rome, Pope Paul VI urged mankind to follow "the law of duty, of service, of sorrow, of love, of sacrifice — the wise and true interpretation of human life."

Fierce fighting less than 100 miles away went almost unnoticed as pilgrims crowded into Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre, believed to mark the site of the burial and resurrection of Jesus.

All Christians celebrated Easter on the same day because of a leap year in the Orthodox calendar. The Western rites held their services first; then the Orthodox worshippers took over.

Security precautions were increased in Jerusalem because of the Arab guerrilla raid in northern Israel last week. But there was no trouble. The Ministry of Tourism said there were more than 45,000 pilgrims — including Jews for Passover — in the city. The crowd equaled that of last year.

An estimated 17,000 persons turned out for the Hollywood Bowl sunrise

Reformatory Guards Strike At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mansfield Reformatory was operating "fairly normally" in spite of a strike by more than half of the prison's employees, Supt. Robert White said Sunday.

Pickets barred deliveries of food and other supplies, White said, as the strike entered its third day Monday.

Some 260 of the institution's 450 guard and non-supervisory employees were off the job in what they describe as a "confrontation" with prison officials over a list of grievances.

Some workers inside the prison were operating the prison, White said.

A Richland County judge ordered the number of pickets at the facility's entrance be limited, White said, but strikers ignored the injunction.

The facility houses about 1,300 inmates, White said.

The workers, members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, submitted a list of grievances last week.

It included a request for an officers' lounge and new parking lot, White said.

Guards were also upset over complaints of brutality lodged by inmates with the prison's citizen advisory council, White said. A council member was reported to have made public the complaints last week, inciting the walkout.

White said no negotiations have been attempted. Representatives of the workers met with officials of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction last Thursday in Columbus.

Another meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, but there's no word on whether that will take place, White said.

Celeste Reports $22,400 Income During 1973

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal taxes in 1973 of $1,391, on an income of $22,400, have been reported by state Sen. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland.

Celeste, a candidate for lieutenant governor, said the income reported includes his legislative salary, his partnership in the National Housing Corp. of Lakewood and capital gains from stocks and interest.

Celeste, in a statement, said he is the first candidate for the job to make total disclosure of his finances.

Said the candidate: "I think it is essential right now for those of us seeking the votes of the people of Ohio to make it unmistakably clear to them that we're not seeking public office in order to enrich ourselves."

Perk To Run Without Help From President

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Saturday he would run for the U.S. Senate on his record and would not invite President Nixon or any other national figure to help him campaign.

"I don't know if I need anyone's help in campaigning," Perk told newsmen at Bowling Green State University. "I want people to vote for me on the basis of my record."

The mayor pledged that if elected to the Senate he would be a voice for the cities and work to overcome what he called congressional inaction on urban matters.

Perk added that he would oppose any attempt to force the President to resign. Such a move would make the U.S. "a second great power," he said.

going to be able to understand what resurrection means," said the Rev. Raymond D. Pope of the Faith Community United Methodist Church in Xenia, Ohio.

In Yellow Creek, Ga., members of the Community Baptist Church met for services where their wrecked church used to stand.

At the Vatican, Pope Paul — twice bedridden with the flu in the past month — ignored the advice of aides and held an outdoor mass on the steps of St. Peter's Basilica.

The day was damp and rain threatened, but 250,000 persons jammed St. Peter's Square. An estimated 200 million around the world watched on television as the 76-year-old Pope delivered his message in Italian in a firm voice.

The pontiff warned that "Hedonism, which becomes the false gospel of so many men and women of our time, is in the long run the philosophy of illusion and death."

Say Many Crimes Go Unreported In Large Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as half of the crimes in the nation's five biggest cities are not being reported, according to a new government survey.

And Donald E. Santarelli, administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, says the disclosure carries "a strong message of public apathy toward...criminal justice institutions bordering on contempt."

According to the survey, released Sunday, the crime rate is five times as high as police records show in Philadelphia, nearly three times as high in Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles, and a little more than twice as high in New York.

"The crime survey results demonstrate that in an astounding number of instances Americans simply do not think it is worthwhile to report to public authorities that they have been the victim of criminal acts," said Santarelli.

The survey was conducted by the LEAA and the Census Bureau as part of a $10 million-a-year project to measure crime. An earlier study indicated that crime is twice as high as reported in Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, Dallas, Newark, St. Louis, Denver and Portland, Ore.

The latest study involved the questioning of persons in about 25,000 households and 10,000 businesses in the five cities during 1973. Those questioned were asked whether they had been raped, robbed, burglarized or assaulted during 1972 and if so, whether they had reported the crime to police.

Of those who did not report crimes 34 per cent said it was because of lack of proof or they felt nothing could be done. Twenty-eight per cent did not consider the crime important enough to report and others said they did not want to be bothered, it was a personal matter, it was too inconvenient or they were afraid of reprisal.

For all five cities, the report said, there was a total of 3.1 million crimes committed in 1972.

By comparison FBI statistics, compiled from local police agencies, listed 1.1 million crimes in the cities.

According to the study, 68 of every 1,000 Detroit residents are likely to be victims of serious crime.

It said the rates were 63 per 1,000 for Philadelphia, 56 per 1,000 for Chicago, 53 per 1,000 for Los Angeles and 36 per 1,000 for New York.

High Court Again Ponders Obscenity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has before it new arguments on an old and solution-resistant issue: obscenity.

The constitutional dust hardly has had time to settle around the court's major obscenity decisions last June. At that time, the court eased the burden of prosecutors in demonstrating to a jury that material is obscene.

But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, writing for the majority, declared that "no one will be subject to prosecution for the sale or exposure of obscene materials unless these materials depict or describe patently offensive 'hard core' sexual conduct specifically defined by the regulating state law..."

One of two cases the court will hear today involves an R-rated, critically acclaimed movie, "Carnal Knowledge," which played successfully nationwide but was declared obscene in Albany, Ga.

One question raised in the case is whether statewide or local standards are to be used in determining limits of candor in depicting sex.

In June, the court dispensed with the requirement that obscenity be judged by a national standard, but left doubt as to what new geographic range was to replace it.

Another question is the manner in which state courts in Georgia met the high court's demand for specific language to warn pornographers what the law prohibits.

Georgia used the language of its indecent exposure law. Critics claim this makes any display of nudity punishable obscene. But, they say, it hardly fits Burger's description of "hard core" depiction of sexual activity.

In the second case, the application of the federal law against mailing obscene material is being examined.

In June, Burger said national standards for obscenity were "hypothetical" and "uncertainable."

The mail case could be used by the court to determine just what kind of geographic standard should be used for a federal obscenity law in light of the condemnation of a national standard.

Application of local standards to the federal law could, in the view of some, make First Amendment rights to freedom of expression a function of postal routes.

Deputy Dewey also cited Bachman for being illegally stopped on a highway.

Unger received minor bruises, with passenger, Linda Lou Unger, 22, receiving minor cuts and bruises to the head. Bachman received a multiple laceration to the scalp, with passenger, Isabelle McLary, 67, Route 1, South Bloomingville, receiving a fractured right ankle.

All were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Judge Ammer Published In Law Review

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer recently published an article on shock probation in the Capital University Law Review. The article not only cites some of the actual cases handled in Pickaway County but reviews the background and mechanisms of the statute.

Ammer writes that one of the major reasons shock probation was instituted Oct. 30, 1965 was due to the fact that the trial courts did not have the authority to suspend execution of a sentence. With the use of probation after serving 30 days, the statute can often serve as a rehabilitation tool.

The initial statute was amended in 1969 to force the court to act upon any motion within 60 days after it is filed and enter its ruling within ten days after the hearing. This amendment kept courts from holding a motion for many months before deciding on it.

Ammer continues in his article explaining the criteria which must be met before shock probation is granted. The foremost factor is the offense. Only probationable offenses are considered under the shock probation statute.

This eliminates possible probation of persons convicted of murder, or repeat of dangerous offenders. The court must also consider the protection of the public when granting probation under the statute.

The Capital University Law Review is published by the university and edited by students of the law school.

Circleville Wins Annual Kiwanis Relays

Circleville high school captured the annual Kiwanis Relays Saturday. It was perfect weather for the event and records were set in 13 of the 14 events.

The Tiger point total was 48. Adena was in second place with 43 points, the only team seriously threatening Circleville.

Athens scored 26 points, Bloom Carroll 22, Fairfield Union 14, Waverly 13½, Unioto 13, Wilmington 12, Logan Elm 9½, Logan 9, Southeastern and Westland six each, Gallia Academy two and Greenfield McClain none.

This was the first year that field events were on a 2-man team basis.

HIGH VAULTAGE—Circleville High School Senior Reggie Radcliff reached 13 feet 2 inches in the pole vault event of Saturday's Kiwanis Relays. Radcliff helped Circleville win the relays. His effort was a new individual meet record and a new CHS record.

Gary Player Wins Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Gary Player was striding down the 17th fairway at the Augusta National Golf Club, a white cap pulled low over his eyes, and was pondering his second shot to a hard, fast green that had been his nemesis for nearly two decades.

Wildcats, MSU Lead Big Ten Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northwestern and Michigan State have jumped into the early lead in the Big Ten baseball race while defending champion Minnesota split a doubleheader and highly-regarded Michigan failed to post a victory over the weekend.

Northwestern opened the season Friday by bombing Indiana 17-9 and 7-3 and then split a doubleheader with Ohio State Saturday with the Wildcats winning the opener 6-1, then getting belted 21-1 by the Buckeyes.

Michigan State started fast Friday with 9-0 and 5-1 triumphs over Purdue and then split a doubleheader with Illinois Saturday, winning the opener 6-1 but dropping the nightcap 10-3.

Minnesota beat Iowa 8-2 in the nightcap Sunday after dropping the opener 4-3. The Gophers were not scheduled Friday and were rained out of a doubleheader Saturday.

Michigan was rained out of a doubleheader against Illinois Friday and were rained out of a doubleheader Saturday.

Michigan was rained out of a doubleheader against Illinois Friday and then the Wolverines were the victims of a double shutout by Purdue's Gary Mahoney and Kevin Widner Saturday.

Mahoney limited the Wolverines to four hits in a 1-0 masterpiece and Widner yielded only two safeties in a 2-0 Boilermaker triumph in the nightcap.

Indiana rebounded from its double loss to Northwestern and smashed Wisconsin 6-3 and 15-11 as Donnie Seidholz had seven hits in seven at bats, scored five times and drove in five runs.

Seidholz had a homer in the nightcap while Dave Barnett, the defending Big Ten batting champion, and Dave Wilson both blasted three-run homers for the Hoosiers.

"I haven't hit this green six times in the 18 years I've been playing here," he said to his caddy, Eddie McCoy. "But it won for me in 1961 and it's going to win for us again."

The little South African, dressed in black from neck to shoes, took a deliberate stance and let fly with a nine-iron.

The ball described a beautiful arc and plopped to within six inches of the pin—a virtual tap-in for a birdie three.

That one dramatic shot broke the logjam among four leaders Sunday and decided the 38th Masters Tournament, Player winning it at 10 under par—two strokes ahead of Dave Stockton and Tom Weiskopf.

Player, 37, from far off Johannesburg, repeated a victory he first scored in 1961—a record 13-year gap—and fixed his sights on new horizons.

"This gives me the first leg on the Grand Slam," Player said, referring to the four major championships—U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and Masters—which no man has ever won in a single year.

"At least, I am the only man with a chance this year to win it."

It is the last major goal also of Jack Nicklaus, holder of a record 14 major championships who made a spectacular come-from-behind stab at a fifth Masters' crown with an eagle at the par-five 13th, only to falter with bogeys at the 14th and 16th.

Certain Gill Nets May Be Outlawed

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Approval of regulations banning the use of certain gill nets in parts of the Great Lakes is expected by June 1, state officials say.

The Natural Resources Commission is expected to act on regulations banning large-mesh gill nets for commercial fishing at its May 9 and 10 meeting, a Department of Natural Resources spokesman said.

Logan Elm's long jump team of Mark Hawks and Steve Sargent combined to set the record in that event of 39 feet 11 inches. Hawks sailed over 21 feet in his effort.

The Circleville shuttle hurdle relay team composed of Jeff Danford, Herb Sturgell, Jim Cordle and Frank Plescia was clocked in 61.1, a record.

Those were the only three firsts for the Tigers, who placed second in three events, third in four events and fourth in three events.

The only race the Tigers did not earn points in was the medley relay. Adena led all teams in firsts with five while Athens captured four events in the meet.

Finishing second for the Tigers were: the four mile relay team of Steve Watters, Matt McGowan, Jeff

Mustangs Sweep Doubleheader From Amanda-Clearcreek

The Westfall baseball team upped its record to 4-2 Saturday winning both ends of a doubleheader from Amanda-Clearcreek, 8-3 and 5-4.

Tribe Splits Twin Bill With Yanks

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It was the day of the homers Sunday as the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees divided up 12 four baggers and traded victories in a double-header.

New York won the opener 9-5 on six homers, while the Tribe took the nightcap 9-6, despite three more round-trippers by the visitors.

Former Indian Graig Nettles slammed two home runs in each game, bringing his season total to five all against his former teammates.

"I hit almost everything they threw up to me today, it was just one of those days," Nettles said. "The ballpark is the same here as in Shea (Stadium) practically, and all but the last one would have gone out. The last one was helped a lot by the wind."

The following batter, Mike Hegan, was decked by a Hilgendorf fastball which caught him on the helmet. When the Indians took their turn in the eighth, Yankee reliever Sparky Lyle promptly decked the first Indian batter, John Lowenstein. Lowenstein had to leave the game with a swollen left wrist.

Aspromonte and Yankee Manager Bill Virdon were called by home plate umpire Don Denkinger who warned, "The next pitch that slips from either side will mean your dismissal."

Craig Moore went all the way in the first game, fanning six, walking seven and allowing six hits.

The losing pitcher was McKenzie who whiffed three and walked six in two innings. He was relieved by Martin who finished the game. For Westfall, Tim Brigner singled and drove in one run, Chris Riddle hit two singles and drove in two runs, Moore singled and David Valone doubled.

Garnering hits for the visitors were Cassill with a double and a single, Martin with a double, Garner Smith and McKenzie with singles.

Westfall scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second and one in the third. Amanda scored a run in the first, one in the fifth and one in the seventh.

In the second game, David Valone's 3-2 run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning was the winning blow.

The Mustangs trailed 4-2 going into the seventh. Then Terry Hanson singled and Craig Moore walked to set the stage for Valone's round tripper. The only other hit for the Mustangs was Gary Thompson's double which drove in a run.

The winning pitcher for the Mustangs was Chris Riddle. He set down 11 of the Aces by strikeouts, walked only two and was touched for six hits, all singles.

Hartley started for the Aces and pitched six innings. He fanned nine and walked two. Martin finished the game, whiffing one.

The Mustangs and Huntington were scheduled 2 p.m. today, weather permitting at Westfall.

COLUMBIAGAS

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Major league baseball found out about the birds and the bees Sunday. The American League got the bird while the National League got the bees.

A swarm of bees in San Diego took over the home plate area in San Diego, briefly delaying the Padres' game against San Francisco—but that's another story.

The bird was a victim of a "fowl" ball hit by Detroit's Willie Horton. And the Tigers were the victims of a couple of balls hit very fair...and very far...by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, carrying the Red Sox to a 7-5 triumph.

In other American League games, Minnesota mauled Kansas City 8-0 and California trimmed Chicago 6-3 and, in a pair of doubleheaders, Oakland topped Texas 4-2, then the Rangers rebounded 10-2 in the nightcap, and the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-5 before the Indians took the second game 9-6. Baltimore's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Red Sox 7, Tigers 5

The ball, hit by Horton struck and killed a pigeon passing over old Fenway Park, landed only a few feet in front of home plate.

The pop up by Horton in the ninth inning hit the pigeon, which fell dead immediately in front of home plate.

"It scared the hell outa me," said Boston catcher Bob Montgomery. "I jumped a foot in the air—and Willie jumped even higher."

What killed the Tigers was Yaz' bat. He drove in two runs in the first inning with a booming double and later scored on Dwight Evans' home run. Then Yaz crashed a homer of his own, a third-inning shot that proved to be the winning run. Ed Brinkman drove in three of Detroit's runs.

Bob Darwin continued his torrid hitting with a grand-slam homer, a triple and two singles to lead Minnesota's assault against Kansas City—but the Twins were more concerned about pitcher Bert Blyleven.

The right-hander held the Royals to six hits before leaving the game in the eighth inning with a slight muscle strain.

"Without Bert we're in trouble," Darwin said. And Manager Frank Quilici added: "He's the gun, baby."

Angels 6, White Sox 3

Frank Robinson drove in a pair of runs with a homer—the 555th of his career—and a single and Dick Selma slammed the door on Chicago to lead the Angels, leaders in the West, to their sixth victory in eight games and keep the White Sox in the cellar with their sixth loss in seven.

Selma replaced Frank Tanana in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and none out, got pinch-hitter Carlos May to hit into a force play at the plate and then got Dick Allen to ground into a doubleplay.

A's 4-2, Rangers 2-10

Reggie Jackson cracked two home runs, the second one a three-run eighth-inning job, to boost Oakland past the Rangers. He's hit five homers this year, all against Texas.

In the second game, though, it was Dave Nelson who feasted. He drove in six runs with a three-run homer, a two-run single and a sacrifice fly, to bring the Ferguson Jenkins and the Rangers a twinbill split.

Yanks 9-6, Indians 5-9

The Yankees, making like the Bronx Bombers of old, won the opener on six homers, including two by Graig Nettles and one each by Thurman Munson, Ron Blomberg, Bobby Murcer and Mike Hegan.

Nettles also homered twice in the nightcap—but so did Cleveland's Dave Duncan. His timely hits, and John Ellis' four runs batted in, carried the Indians to victory in the nightcap.

Rose Still Hustling Despite Rainout

CINCINNATI (AP) — The familiar crew cut is gone, replaced by a mod look, but Pete Rose remains the eternal rookie who turned hustle into a trademark.

Now the oldest member of the Cincinnati Reds, outfielder Rose is still giving fans a run for their money.

"You learn as you get older you realize you have to be hungrier," Rose said Sunday on his 33rd birthday.

While rain forced postponement of the Reds game with the Atlanta Braves, the downpour didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the Cincinnati baseball star.

"You see so many players who are over the hill when they are 30," he said. "I believe part of the reason is that they think about it. They honestly believe that life is all downhill after 30."

Rose is rushing headlong toward his 10th season of hitting .300 or better.

The National League's Most Valuable Player in 1973 is hitting .395 after eight games. It's one of the fastest starts in his dozen seasons.

"I've never seen Pete nail the ball so well this early in the season," said Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

Rose's 0-for-2 effort Sunday was nullified by the rainout and that pleased the senior member of the Reds.

"I can't even remember having a good day on my birthday," said Rose. "I remember last year I woke up hitting .440 and went to bed hitting .333. I went 0-for-10 in a doubleheader with the Giants."

"But I did make a good catch and we won both games. I'd take an 0-for-5 every birthday if we win," he said.

Rose led the league last year with a .338 batting average, second highest of his career.

Despite his hitting consistency, he's a noted slow starter. He went into August of 1972 with a .284 average, then hit .323 the final month to keep his string alive.

Tuesday night, he'll attempt to continue his torrid ways against one of his toughest nemesis of 1972. The Los Angeles Dodgers pitching staff limited Rose to a .282 average during the year—second best mark in the league.

The World Open golf championship to be played Sept. 12-15 in Pinehurst, N.C., will have a purse value of $300,000.

Hockey coach Jack Riley is coaching the Army sextet for the 24th season.

Celtics Top Knicks In Playoffs, 113-88

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Knicks are hoping that history repeats, but with captain John Havlicek healthy and in top form, the Boston Celtics figure to be even tougher this year in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference playoff final.

The Celtics got off to a quick start in the best-of-seven series, whipping the Knicks 113-88 Sunday with a tough defense and hot shooting. The teams will play Game 2 in New York Tuesday night.

The series opener was virtually a replay of the first game between the same clubs last year, the Celtics drubbing the Knicks 134-108. However, the Knicks rebounded in New York 129-96 in the second game and went on to win the series and the NBA championship.

Havlicek, a superstar, suffered a shoulder injury in the third game last year and the Celtics were unable to compensate. The shoulder mended during the off-season and the 12-year pro from Ohio State is flying.

Dividing his time between a forward position and the backcourt, Havlicek scored 25 points, collected 12 assists and grabbed four rebounds before being removed with 9:15 left and the Celtics in command with a 93-64 lead.

"Havlicek did it all," said New York star Walt Frazier. "He's always moving, and can make shots on the run. You can get the best position on him and he still gets the ball off. You can't relax on him. We're going to have to stop the Celtics from running. We didn't today."

The winner of the BostonNew York series will face the winner of the Milwaukee-Chicago Western Conference series for the NBA title. The Bucks and Bulls play the first game of their best-of-seven set Tuesday night at Milwaukee.

The American Basketball Association also is into its league semifinals. In the East Division, the New York Nets, leading Kentucky 1-0, meet the Colonels tonight in Game 2 at Uniondale, N.Y., and in the West, the Utah Stars, with a 1-0 advantage over Indiana, face the Pacers again tonight at Salt Lake City.

The Celtics hit 44 of 85 shots for a lopsided victory before a crowd of 14,101 and a national television audience. New York hit on only 34 of 103 field goal attempts, a poor 33 per cent.

Bob Senneker Wins Tri-County Feature

WEST CHESTER, Ohio (AP) — Bob Senneker took command near the midway mark of Sunday's 30-lap late model feature and went on to capture his third straight victory at TriCounty Speedway.

The Dorr, Mich., driver added three other titles. His 18.88 seconds on the quarter mile track was the top qualifying time. He also won the fast car dash and the pursuit event.

Glenn Allen of Lockland won the hobby stock event for the fourth time in five races.

The 1977 Walker Cup matches will be played at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, Southampton, N. Y.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Planetary influences are fairly generous, but you may run into some complex situations which will require exceedingly good judgment to solve. Be alert!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Neither borrow nor lend now. Even small, "friendly" transactions are likely to cause some unpleasantness in the future.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Aspects somewhat adverse where money matters are concerned. Don't make unnecessary purchases and don't let your natural optimism lead you into speculative ventures.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): More information may be needed to consummate a pending business deal. With the added facts on hand, proceed as originally planned.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some confusion indicated during the early hours, but it clears up WITHOUT your intervention, so don't let it disturb you. Evening favors romance, social activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't be too sure that your interests are not progressing. Look over the picture again. There is a proper delaying action in some areas. Don't give up.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Others may be overly aggressive, pressing for their "rights" to the exclusion of yours. Watch your own interests. Don't let them push you around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You have good reason for optimism now. A superior's enthusiasm for your efforts not only pays off, but further spurs your ambition and incentive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Don't regard decisions made in the a.m. as final. Certain circumstances may necessitate revision later in the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Home and family concerns under highly beneficial influences. In fact, a recent domestic problem will finally be straightened out satisfactorily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb a tendency toward wishful thinking. This is a day in which to stress realism and practicality. Imagination is great—except when it runs out of bounds.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A curious suggestion may be made. If you have even the slightest doubt about it, reject summarily. Your hunches are usually correct.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great ambition and a high degree of energy and determination—which help you to achieve plateaus of success which others would often consider unattainable.

Though not quite as versatile as many born under your Sign, you, nevertheless, have been endowed with a number of talents through which you could carve an enviable career. You should be musically inclined, and could succeed as either performer or composer—or both. Your magnetic personality, coupled with your sense of the dramatic, makes you a "natural" for the theater, and a scientific bent, bracketed with a lively imagination, may take you into the field of invention. Traits to curb: impulsiveness and overaggressiveness. Birthdate of: Wilbur Wright, airplane inventor; Peter Ustinov and Charles Chaplin, film stars.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—So you think a 30-inch screen is a real bonanza for TV viewing? Stay tuned, Bunky. You ain't seen nothing yet. How about a 75-ton TV set with six screens, each 26 feet wide and 22 feet high?

Agreed, it's not the sort of thing you'd put in the living room. In fact, it only will be installed in the new $163 million Louisiana Superdome they're currently building in New Orleans.

But it's intended to bring all the comforts of home viewing, even slow-motion replays, to the 80,000-plus souls Superdome officials hope will visit their emporium to watch sports and other events live.

The officials hope to have it working by Jan. 12, 1975, when, if the Superdome is completed, pro football's Superbowl 9 will be held in the 26-story enclosed arena.

The video monster, which costs an estimated $1.3 million, doesn't work like your conventional television system, according to Bob Jones, an ex-TV newsmen who now is the Superdome's director of television.

There'll be conventional TV cameras on the field for closeup action, but that's where convention ends. He says the signals will be piped to a control room, then to six massive, Swiss-made projectors located at strategic points on the arena's fifth floor.

The projectors then will cast the images on the giant screens hanging in a circle from the center of the Superdome. Officials claim it'll give a spectator in the most remote seat a view akin to what he'd see were he sitting in front of a three-foot TV screen at home.

"We can do anything with this system that commercial television can do," says Jones.

Alas, that also includes commercials, which Jones says probably will run only 30 seconds and be flashed on the screen only during breaks in whatever action is afoot down on the field.

The commercials are expected to net the Superdome $210,000 next year, he said.

Has anyone raised the point it might seem a bit ironic to go to a stadium and pay money to watch a game on television?

"No, not really," Jones laughed. "I've had some thoughts about it, but I was absolutely amazed when I saw a system vaguely like this at the Capitol Arena in Maryland, just outside Washington."

The attraction was a circus, he said, and he was struck by the interest of spectators in the arena's four TV screens.

"I was sitting at one end, fairly high up, and I got a better view of some of the acts on the screen than actually looking at the acts themselves," he said.

"What I got was the atmosphere and spontaneity of sitting there, yet I got a nice close-up picture when I wanted one."

Report Nixon Put Pressure On Agnew For Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new book on Spiro T. Agnew's tax case says that while President Nixon kept voicing support for Agnew in public, White House aides eventually met privately with Agnew to demand his resignation.

Nixon was particularly worried about Agnew taking the "impeachment track" by aiming his case toward the House of Representatives, according to the book, "A Heartbeat Away," being published today by Viking Press.

Agnew finally made a deal with the Justice Department, resigned Oct. 10 and pleaded no contest to a single charge of income tax evasion.

The authors of the book, Washington Post reporters Richard M. Cohen and Jules Witcover, said the Agnew impeachment option "was fraught with ominous parallel for the President himself."

"If Agnew could be impeached and convicted, then perhaps it would not be so difficult for the now-reluctant congressmen to place Nixon on the same track and ride him out of office.

"Also, an Agnew impeachment trial would raise in unavoidable terms the basic constitutional question vexing the Watergate-plagued President: Was impeachment the mandatory first step for a president or vice president accused of crime, or could he be indicted first in a court of law?"

"Finally, once committed to the impeachment track, Agnew would be much less likely to agree to the swift, surgical solution that the President wanted — his resignation," the book said.

Cohen and Witcover said that the decisive incident behind Agnew's agreeing to resign was a meeting Sept. 10 involving the vice president, one of his lawyers, presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and White House Chief of Staff Alexander T. Haig.

Haig, "abandoning the White House's addiction for circumlocution and subtlety ... let Agnew have it," the book said. "The vice president had to resign. It was a simple, straightforward demand, and Haig kept hammering away at it."

U.S. Official Said Better

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Doctors declared U.S. Information Service chief Alfred Laun III "out of danger" today more than 72 hours after Marxist guerrillas shot him in the stomach, kidnaped him and abandoned him.

Doctors said they will decide in the next 48 hours whether it is convenient to transfer Laun to Buenos Aires.

The 36-year-old American was shot as he struggled with guerrillas of the People's Revolutionary Army who kidnaped him Friday from his home 20 miles north of Cordoba.

He was found abandoned 15 hours later on a street in Cordoba and rushed to a hospital for emergency surgery.

A communique issued by the guerrilla group said Laun was to have been tried by a "people's court" for alleged links with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and for giving communications assistance to the right-wing military leaders who overthrew the late President Salvador Allende in Chile last September.

Prison Gambling May Be Started

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Donald Bordenkircher, warden of the West Virginia Penitentiary, says he is considering instituting gambling under controlled conditions at the maximum security prison.

Money from the gambling would go into the inmate benefit fund for use in purchasing items for the entire prison population.

"It takes men out of the corridors in the evenings when they have nothing to do and gives them enjoyable entertainment," the warden said in an interview Sunday.

THE WINNER — Shauna Whaley displays the prize winning egg she found Saturday during the Easter egg hunt held by the minister and staff of Circleville Community Mission. Fred Strawser of Circleville Bible College is minister of the church and assisted in youth activities by his wife, Gloria. Bronson Haynes also won a prize for a marked egg and Nancy Happeny for the most found.

Proxmire Pushes End To Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire today called for abolition of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Selective Service and 14 other agencies on grounds they are useless and wasteful.

Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic subcommittee on priorities and economy in government, said that if any of the 16 are serving a useful purpose their functions can be moved to an existing agency.

"Virtually every bill passed by the Congress and signed by the president establishes some new agency, commission, board or advisory council," Proxmire said in a statement. "Once started, they take on a life of their own. They are never abolished."

For example, Proxmire said, Selective Service is asking $41 million this year to keep in operation even though under the law no one can be drafted.

Here are other agencies he proposes to abolish, and his reasons:

Renegotiation Board — He said this agency, which reviews profits of companies doing business with the government, allowed Grumman Aircraft to keep a 76 per cent return on net worth and Dow Chemical Co. to keep a 48 per cent profit.

Civil Defense — "The shelter programs, the evacuation program, and the contribution programs are sterling examples of make-work" because "in the nuclear world there is no place to hide."

Interstate Commerce Commission

Nixon Asks Extension

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, who has been told he owes $467,000 in back taxes and interest, has obtained a 60-day extension of the April 15 filing date for his 1973 tax return.

White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the extension was the type "any taxpayer can request" for additional time in filing a return.

He said Nixon asked for the extension because of the possible effect of the back-tax ruling on his 1973 return.

The Internal Revenue Service and a joint congressional committee on taxation ruled April 3 that Nixon owed back taxes for the years 1969-72.

The IRS disallowed Nixon's deductions for the gift of his vice presidential papers and certain real estate. Nixon has said he would pay the taxes.

Brooke Pushes Nixon To Quit

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., says he favors granting immunity to President Nixon from Watergate-related charges if the President agrees to resign.

"The price of stepping down from the highest office in this country would be a penalty that would meet any crime that could have been committed," Brooke said in a television interview Sunday.

He said Nixon's resignation would have to be accompanied by a bill of particulars outlining the charges to which he would admit guilt, similar to the procedure followed when former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew stepped down and pleaded no contest to federal tax charges.

Space Age Talking

RICHARDS ISLAND, Canada (AP) — A space age communications system is helping men searching for oil in this remote section of Canada's northland keep in touch with civilization.

Three oil companies are using a transportable satellite communications earth station equipped with a 10-foot dish antenna at this exploration site above the Arctic Circle to send and receive voice, data and teletype communications via the Anik Satellites. Both Anik and the portable station were developed and built by Hughes Aircraft Co., El Segundo, Calif.

Instead of depending on shortwave to attempt calls back and forth to the populated areas of southern Canada, some 2,000 miles away, the oil exploration teams communicate through the station, up 22,300 miles to the satellite, back down to an earth terminal near Toronto, then via landline to their home offices in Calgary. By reversing the procedure the home offices can contact the men working in the isolated outposts.

Farm Women Vote For Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farm women appear to be joining their city sisters in wanting equality and the erasure of the "traditional role" of women.

According to a poll by Prairie Farmer, a leading rural magazine, farm women in Illinois and Indiana are two to one in favor of women taking any job they can handle. The ratio is three to one among women under 40 with some college training.

Better than three-quarters of the farm women polled felt their husbands should help out in the house at least occasionally. However, slightly less than three-quarters of the men actually did. Age was not a factor here. Young and old alike thought their husbands should pitch in.

In a separate poll, about one-third of the women questioned answered "no" when asked whether they would vote for a qualified female presidential candidate. Among farm women with some college, about one-quarter voted "no."

A SURE WAY TO CUT FOOD COSTS

You're concerned about holding down your weekly food bills. Kroger shares your concern! But supermarkets have no control over the wholesale costs we must pay—and when those costs go up, they must eventually be reflected in retail prices.

There is a way you can cut your food bills right away . . . and without sacrificing quality or flavor. Food shopping experts across the nation recommend that you buy your supermarket's own brands. These offer quality equal to the nation's best-selling brands, yet are usually priced lower.

At Kroger, we offer several of our own fine brands. You'll see our own name, "Kroger," on most of them. Other high-quality Kroger brands include such familiar names as Country Club, Royal Viking, or Yubi. Strict specifications for these products call for quality equal to or better than the national brand most people buy.

And remember . . . every product sold at Kroger is Guaranteed Unconditionally. If you're not pleased, we'll replace it or give your money back. So why not try the Kroger Brands? You've nothing to lose and a lot to gain.

Don't miss this Offer!

70-MILE-PER-HOUR-WINDS—High winds toppled the front porch of the Greg Dunkle residence, State Route 56, west of Circleville. The two-story colonial porch was scattered along the front and side yards of the house. Neighbors claim three twisters went through the area, but only one hit the house.

High Winds, Rain Sweep Over Ohio

By The Associated Press

High winds, rain mixed with pelting hail and two tornadoes interrupted an otherwise partly cloudy and comfortable Easter Sunday, the National Weather Service said.

The storms which raced through Ohio at midday left roofs off their rafters and some trees uprooted in Central Ohio, authorities reported.

Most of the day was filled with sunshine and warm temperatures as many Ohioans took to the roads and outside to enjoy one of the first breaks in rainy, cold weather.

Tornadoes were sighted by the weather service at Grove City and La Rue. Winds near the twisters were clocked up to 70 m.p.h., the service said.

At least five persons were injured when several mobile homes in the Marion area were damaged by high winds, rain and hail, authorities said.

Three persons received minor cuts and bruises when winds toppled more than a half-dozen trailer homes near New Bloomington, a dispatcher at the La Rue Fire Department said.

There were power outages in southwest Ohio as a result of the high winds, authorities said.

Most of the state was under a tornado watch Sunday afternoon as a storm front moved through the state from Indiana into Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Northern Ohio was warned of high winds through the evening.

A low pressure system and associated cold front were responsible for Sunday's turbulent weather.

By dawn today the system had moved north and east of the state, leaving behind only a few lingering showers and strong westerly winds.

Seventy-mile-per-hour winds caused extensive damage to buildings in Pickaway County, Sunday.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was driving east on Route 56 when high winds toppled a chimney and part of the roof on the Pleasant View United Methodist Church.

Ronald Gool, Carvel Trailer Court; Mr. and Mrs. William Parrott, Route 4; Melvin Garrett, Route 4 reported high winds caused damage to their mobile homes.

Ronald Imler, Route 1, Kingston; Raymond Hedges, Route 1, Laurelville; E. H. Fetherolf, Route 1, Kingston; D. C. Valentine, Route 1, Kingston; Jacob Maxwell, Route 1, Kingston, reported winds caused extensive damage to barn roofs.

Sheriff's authorities investigated one report of tree limbs on the highway. Deputy John Bost found a camper-top on the highway.

No estimate was made until completion of investigation by the insurance companies.

This activity was forecast to diminish by afternoon, and clearing skies were expected over southern counties.

Cooler temperatures were forecast across the state tonight and Tuesday.

Federal Income Tax Deadline Arrives; Expect Late Flood

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is April 15, the deadline for filing your 1973 income tax return, unless you live in Maine, Massachusetts or North Carolina.

In those states you have until Tuesday because today is a legal holiday — Patriot's day in Maine and Massachusetts and Easter Monday in North Carolina.

The Internal Revenue Service estimated that it will receive more than 80 million returns this year, up considerably from 425,000 returns filed in 1913, the year that the Payne-Aldrich act created the income tax.

And of these 80 million, officials say nearly half are sent in during the last two weeks, with many tax-payers hurrying to the post office to get them postmarked before the midnight deadline.

Officials of the IRS declined to estimate the number of persons who may be trying to cheat on their taxes, although one spokesman said such attempts seem to be running about the same level as in the past.

Last year the IRS prosecuted 1,342 persons for income tax evasion. Of these 821 pleaded guilty, 330 pleaded no contest, including former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, 123 were convicted after pleading innocent and 68 were acquitted.

Thanks to withholding, many taxpayers are in line for refunds, and the IRS says the average refund this year is about $360.

Free tax assistance is offered by IRS, but spokesmen report that nearly half of the nation's taxpayers seek assistance from commercial tax preparers.

And the Tax Reform Research Group, an investigative organization, has charged that checks of IRS offices in seven states revealed mistakes and inconsistencies in the advice IRS gives to taxpayers.

Officials said group staffers took identical tax forms and questions to at least three IRS offices in each of seven states.

Committee, which made a start early in 1973, would turn to it again early this year.

General tax reform does not even appear on Albert's list.

The Ways and Means Committee set tax reform aside last year at President Nixon's request to take up his foreign trade bill.

Ways and Means — the tax, trade and Social Security committee — did not go back promptly to the loophole-closing job. It sent a Social Security benefit increase on to enactment and then worked out a massive pension reform bill, which is now in conference for reconciliation with a Senate-passed measure.

Next the tax writers took up a limited tax bill with high topical appeal — a levy on crisscrossed windfall profits of oil companies.

Ready to be sent to the House when Congress returns, the bill sets stiff taxes on windfall profits, but allows oil

Americans 'Complacent' About Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Environmental Protection Agency says the end of the Arab oil embargo has prompted Americans to become "very complacent" again about conserving energy.

EPA Administrator Russel Train said Sunday there was too much emphasis on expanding supplies of energy rather than reducing demand.

"I am concerned that with the cutoff of the Arab embargo the American public is going to go back to its wasteful ways," Train said on the CBS television program "Face the Nation."

"I think that we're very complacent about this, not really recognizing that we're in for a long-term energy problem in this country," he said.

We've got to make up our minds... that we better start giving the highest possible priority to reducing the use of energy."

Train said a switch to smaller cars is "probably the largest single energy savings that we could make."

Meanwhile, New England utilities today return their voltage to full power after a winter cutback to save fuel.

A spokesman for the New England Power Pool said the federal allocation system and ending of the oil embargo have stabilized the supply of fuel to the region's electric generating plants.

Beginning Nov. 27, utilities in the six-state area had imposed a 5 per cent voltage cut daily between 5 and 9 p.m.

Kissinger Talks To U.N. Steel Plan To Cost $31 Million

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was expected to give the United States government's qualified support today to the demands of less developed nations for greater participation in the use of the world's natural resources.

At the same time, Kissinger's speech to the United Nations General Assembly was to include an assertion of the industrialized world's claim to continued access to raw materials.

U.S. officials said the secretary's address would be relatively brief and would stress three things:

1. There is a need for a more equitable handling of the world's natural resources.

2. A solution must result from cooperative planning, and the less developed nations who hold raw materials should not seek a confrontation with the richer countries.

3. The General Assembly should avoid broad, grandiose declarations and work instead from a base of relatively narrow, practical agreements.

Before his speech, Kissinger was meeting with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, and afterward he was to attend a luncheon given by Waldheim for visiting foreign officials.

Kissinger also arranged meetings today with several other foreign ministers, including those from Morocco, Yugoslavia, Turkey and India.

Tonight, he and his wife Nancy were to be dinner guests of Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy. The secretary is scheduled to return to Washington on Tuesday.

Battle Flares In Mideast

By The Associated Press

Israeli and Syrian gunners traded artillery and tank fire on the Golan Heights war front today after a weekend of the hardest fighting since the October war.

The Israeli military command said shelling resumed this morning along the northern sector of the 300-square-mile bulge captured by Israel during the October fighting.

The announcement made no mention of casualties.

The command also announced the appointment of Brig. Gen. Rafael Eytan, who led Israel's thrust into Syria in October, to command Israel's northern front with both Syria and Lebanon.

Eytan, who was promoted to major general, takes over from Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, who was promoted to chief of staff.

Israeli fighter-bombers on Sunday attacked Syrian forces on Mt. Hermon and the Golan Heights while below them the armies of the two countries battled fiercely with tanks and artillery.

The Israeli military command said all its planes returned safely Sunday, denying a Syrian claim that four were downed. Syria also claimed 50 Israeli ground troops were killed or wounded, but Israel said only 17 were wounded.

Syria said 15 of its soldiers were killed and 10 were wounded.

Israel said a Syrian commando unit made another unsuccessful attempt to capture an Israeli observation post at the northern end of 9,000-foot Mt. Hermon, which has an unrestricted view for 100 miles and more into Syria.

Later in the day, tanks and artillery duelled the length of the 40-mile front across the Golan Heights, and Israeli planes attacked the Syrian positions for four hours during the afternoon, the Israeli command said.

Meanwhile, the U.N. Security Council was to be called into session this afternoon to discuss the Israeli raid on six Lebanese villages Friday night. The raid was in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack from Lebanon last Thursday on an Israeli village in which 18 Israelis and the three guerrillas died.

Lebanon reported to the Council that "two Lebanese civilians were killed and others wounded, 13 Lebanese civilians were kidnapped and 31 houses destroyed" in the Israeli raid.

The council was expected to adopt a resolution later in the week condemning Israel, and Israel was expected to ignore it.

In Israel, President Ehphraim Katzir gave the Labor party 10 days to find a successor to Premier Golda Meir. He said if they didn't come up with one, he would call on the leader of the right-wing Likud block, Menahem Begin, to try.

The U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv reported to the State Department that Yitzhak Rabin, a 52-year-old hero of the 1967 war and a former ambassador to the United States, was the odds-on favorite for the premiership.

But veteran political observers in Jerusalem said Rabin is opposed by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, and an attempt to make him premier could split the party.

In other developments:

—Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy met in New York with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, whose government has shown signs of uneasiness at Egypt's closeness to the United States.

Fahmy met with U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in Washington on Saturday and was to dine with him tonight.

—Saudi Arabia announced that it signed an agreement Sunday to buy $335 million worth of arms from the United States.

Firms covered by the agreement include U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, National, Armco, WheelingPittsburgh, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, and Allegheny Ludlum Industries.

The companies had initiated the talks with government officials last year after an increase of government equal-opportunity actions in the steel industry.

Inland Steel Co., headquartered in Indiana Harbor, Ind., declined to accept the voluntary program and dropped out of the negotiations. Sources said the government is expected to file suit against Inland.

Woman Lashes Out At Judge On Jury Duty Frustrations

DETROIT (AP) — Helen Mueller is a shy, 102-pound housewife who said she "really felt sort of proud" when she was called for federal jury duty.

But that was before she found out what jury duty was like.

After 20 days' service over three months, she stomped into U.S. District Court here to give Judge Fred W. Kaess a good bawling out.

"If I ever get in trouble, I'll never ask for a jury trial," she told the startled judge. "I don't want to be judged by a group of angry, frustrated people."

"We were herded around like animals, from one pen to another. Nobody says welcome, or tells you what the rules are, or what your rights are or what's going on around you. Most of the time you just sit, not knowing what it is you're waiting for."

"People become very resentful," Mrs. Mueller told the judge last week. "You'd be surprised how many jurors say they'll never vote again, because jurors names are drawn from the registered voters. I think that's terrible!"

Judge Kaess agreed and said a judicial committee was working on jury system reform.

The Drayton Plains woman said that the required 20 days of jury duty can stretch into six months if a juror is never chosen for a trial. So jurors stretch the truth a little during their examination just to get on a case and get the whole thing over with, she said.

"I don't mean the jurors lie," she said. "But for example, I've learned not to say what my husband's profession is. If I say he's a social worker, I'm excused right away. I learned very quickly to say he is a director for a family service agency. That's OK."

For another, the jurors aren't notified when a case is dismissed or settled out of court. "You might have to come in and sit all day only to be told to go home. And you never knew why," she said.

But Mrs. Mueller said the capper was the day she telephoned the emergency number to tell the court she couldn't show up because of a medical problem. She said she got a recorded message that told her what time to be on duty.

See Food Stamp Eligibility Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional staff study says rising food prices over the next two years may result in making one out of every four Americans eligible for government food stamps.

This would push program costs from the current $3 billion annually to a possible $10 billion, according to a staff study prepared for the Senate-House Economic Committee.

The study was released Sunday by Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., chairman of the joint committee's fiscal policy subcommittee.

"Unless food prices stabilize before July 4, 1976, an estimated 60 million Americans — more than one in four — might be eligible for food stamps at some time during the nation's bicentennial year," Mrs. Griffiths said in a statement.

Weather

Mostly cloudy with chances of few light showers, becoming partly cloudy in the afternoon. High, in low 50s. Clear and cold tonight, low, mid 30s. Partly cloudy and continued cold Tuesday. High, mid 50s. Probability of precipitation, 30 per cent today, 10 per cent tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Sunday were: high, 82; low, 42.

Congress To Push Health Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert observed the start of Congress' Easter break by issuing a statement of accomplishments and plans with national health insurance placed first on the list.

The statement was compiled after a joint meeting of the House and Senate Democratic leadership. It added to other indications that the congressional chiefs are trimming their overgrown agenda and aiming at enactment of a choice package of voter-appealing measures.

With impeachment matters likely to pre-empt much of its time between now and the November election, Congress is beginning to feel squeezed.

One of the items that could fall to the cutting-room floor is across-the-board tax reform. Only last year a concerted drive to close loopholes was being trumpeted by many as Congress' prime concern and assurances were given that the House Ways and Means companies to avoid payment of much of these by plowing the funds back into exploration and development of additional energy supplies. It also provides for a gradual phaseout of the controversial oil depletion allowance.

Meanwhile, there was a breakthrough in the years-long effort to form a winning coalition behind a plan for national health insurance at a price U.S. families could afford.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., proponents of opposing views, agreed on and introduced a compromise bill with less government participation than Kennedy previously had insisted on and more than Mills had favored.

Mills has announced plans for consideration of this legislation one day a week, with the rest of the time going to tax reform.

Albert, acknowledging that the timing is tight, has said "we want a health insurance bill this year."

A member of Mills' committee predicted privately that as time goes on the immensely controversial provisions of a general tax reform bill will remain unresolved and the emphasis will swing to getting out the health measure.

Mills himself has noted that, the outcome may be a sharply limited tax bill trimming some obvious preferences — and a promise that, without fail, the general revision will be tackled in the next congress.

Albert listed campaign financing reform as a priority measure.

Just before the recess, the Senate passed a tough bill emphasizing public financing of campaigns.

There is strong opposition on the House to public financing, especially of congressional campaigns, a feeling shared by Chairman Wayne L. Hays,

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices headed higher in the stock market today, attempting to snap out of the sluggish and drifting trend of the past two weeks.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and gainers led losers by about a 5-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said it appeared hopes for an easing of the recent sharp rise of interest rates was prompting scattered buying.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Teleprompter, up 1/4 to 5 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, down 1/8 to 18 3/4; Atlantic Richfield, up 1/2 to 90 1/2; and CNA Financial, unchanged at 9 7/8. National Cash Register, buoyed by a strong first quarter earnings gain, added 3/8 to 36 3/8.

Louisiana-Pacific, which announced that talks for the acquisition of Sierra Pacific Industries had been called off, was down 1/8 at 23 1/8.

On last week's final trading day, Thursday, prices were mixed as Big Board volume slumped to 9.97 million shares, its lowest total since last Aug. 27.

Elks Lodge Installs Officers

William Bennett, 134 Pleasant St., was installed as the 86th exalted ruler of Circleville Elks Lodge in ceremonies conducted in the lodge home here Saturday night.

He succeeds James Henderson, 209 N. Scioto St.

Other officers installed were Lawrence Priest, leading knight; Robert Liggett, loyal knight; Charles Mowery, lecturing knight; Joseph Rooney Jr., chaplain; John Happenny, esquire; Kelley Barthelmas, inner guard; Bruce Liston, tiler; Dwight Weiler, secretary; Gene Lindsey, treasurer; Karl Drum, trustee; and Richard Plum, organist.

It was the 24th year Plum had been named organist of the lodge. His tenure stands as a local record.

Installing officers were members of the Past Exalted Rulers Assn. of Circleville. They included Marshall Winner, president of the group; Robert Wood, David Goldschmidt, Kenneth Robbins, Robert Huffer, John Moore, Paul Hang and Gunner Musselman.

The installation ceremony was preceded by a dinner served to lodge members and their guests by a committee headed by Harry Clifton Jr.

Following the installation, a dance was staged in the lodge room.

As his first official duty, Bennett gave the traditional 11 o'clock memorial toast.

Gov. Gilligan Discloses Finances

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan reported income of $45,875 in 1973 and paid federal income taxes totaling $11,501, a report showed today.

The report was issued by Gilligan himself, he said, "because I continue to believe that the people of Ohio and this national need to be reassured that their public officials are acting openly and honestly in all of their personal and public dealings."

Gilligan, in a joint return listing his wife, reported income from wages and other compensation of $39,884, dividends of $3,546, interest of $777 and other income of $1,668.

The "other income" category listed $2,125 from the sale or exchange of capital assets, business losses of $1,097, a state income tax refund of $140 and an honorarium of $500 from Harvard University.

Gilligan, a candidate for reelection in 1974, said this is the fourth year in a row he has released his income tax returns.

"I have stated repeatedly that five-years ago, I would have considered a request to make public my personal financial records an invasion of my privacy," the governor said in his statement.

"But in light of the scandals at all levels of government in recent years, climaxed by the continuing revelations growing out of the Watergate break-in, I now feel that the invasion of privacy is warranted if the people of this state and this nation are to regain their faith in their elected and appointed leaders."

Military Men Take Power In Niger

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — Radio reports heard here today said that military forces had taken over the government in Niger.

The reports from Niamey radio said Lt. Col. Seyni Kountie, chief of staff of the Niger armed forces, had taken power.

Niger has been one of the most stable of the former French colonies in Africa. Since its accession to independence in 1960, President Hamani Diori has been the only chief of state.

Niger is a landlocked nation of 490,000 square miles and a population of less than five million persons in north-central Africa.

The northern part of the country is in the southern reaches of the Sahara. The country has been hit hard by the severe drought that has afflicted the sub-Sahara in recent years.

The Niamey radio announcement said, "After 15 years of reign, marked by injustice, corruption, selfishness and indifference with regard to the people whose happiness it pretended to assure, the army can no longer tolerate the permanence of this oligarchy."

The announcement said that the constitution was suspended, the National Assembly dissolved and all political organizations were suppressed.

The radio said that all international engagements taken by the previous regime would be respected "on condition that they take into account the interests and dignity of our people."

3 Persons Marked For Death By Symbionese Liberationists

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The three persons marked for death by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army are trying to prove they are not FBI informers and have gone underground to avoid being "shot on sight."

SLA "death warrants" for Colston Westbrook, Chris Thompson and Robyn Steiner were included in the last communique from the group that claimed responsibility for kidnapping newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4.

SLA Field Marshal General Cinque issued the execution orders in the April 3 message, which also included Miss Hearst's declaration that she had joined her terrorist kidnapers and renounced her family.

The most frequent communication from the three targets has been from Westbrook, 35, a teaching assistant at University of California at Berkeley, whose greetings are played by automatic equipment for those who telephone his Berkeley home. The messages change frequently.

"Thanks for the telephone calls and support," said Westbrook's latest message Sunday. "I hope you have an enjoyable Easter."

Westbrook, who said he earlier had gone East but was back in the San Francisco Bay area, warned he would arm himself if the SLA did not listen to reason. He asked for a lie detector test or a trial with state prison inmates as jurors to clear his name.

Westbrook apparently came in contact with SLA members at Vacaville Medical Facility where he helped found a black cultural association for inmates.

Miss Steiner, 20, identified as a former girl friend of alleged SLA

Mitchell Questioning Nears End

NEW YORK (AP) — Cross-examination of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was expected to be completed today in his criminal conspiracy trial in U.S. District Court.

A tentative schedule for the remainder of the trial showed Mitchell's co-defendant, exCommerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, taking the stand possibly Tuesday or Wednesday.

Both sides in the trial, now in its ninth week, were expected to rest Thursday.

The two former Cabinet members, who resigned to run President Nixon's re-election campaign, are accused of impeding a Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of Robert L. Vesco in return for his $200,000 cash contribution to the campaign.

Direct examination of Mitchell was interrupted Wednesday when Judge Lee P. Gagliardi called a prolonged weekend recess because of a death in a juror's family and Good Friday.

Taking the stand Wednesday, the 60-year-old Mitchell told the judge and jury under questioning by his attorney, Peter Fleming Jr.:

"I made the mistake of so many people make in getting into politics. I was invited to a meeting. It developed that in about four or five months, someone had to run the campaign. I was the unfortunate one."

JDC Bids Too High

Pickaway County Commissioner Dick T. Tootle today reported that bids for the proposed 6-county juvenile detention center to be built in Ross County were $100,000 over estimate.

Tootle represents Pickaway County on the detention center board. A cost estimate of $382,685 for construction and $25,000 for equipment has been approved for state and federal funding.

The low bid for the general contract was submitted by King Contracting. It was $297,000. Low bid for heating and air condition was $36,710 submitted by Circleville Iron and Metal. The low bid for plumbing was $77,000 submitted by Waverly Pipe. The low bid on the electrical contract was $74,904. Total of all contracts was $485,614.

Tootle reported that a study is being made to see if additional funding is available. He noted that if construction is not begun by June, funding for the project will be lost.

OU-C Presents Appalachian Drama, Song

The legend, history and song of Appalachia comprise the program which the Appalachian Green Parks Project will present to Ross County residents at 8 p.m. on April 17 when the Touring Company takes its show to the Chillicothe Branch of Ohio University.

The Appalachian Green Parks Project is a group of musicians, actors and singers who, through the media of drama and song, present the rich folklore of southeastern Ohio and West Virginia—an area known as Appalachia.

This touring project has drawn from the cultural wealth of this area and forged the material into a series of three programs to meet any of a number of performing situations. Audience participation is incorporated into state parks performances; a straight folk concert can be presented if requested and a two-and-one-half hour program of dramatized legends and songs combines enjoyment with learning. The latter program will be presented in the Chillicothe Branch auditorium.

The songs of the program are representative of the era between 1812 and 1918, a period depicting the changing conditions in the United States and in Appalachia in particular.

The Appalachian Green Parks Project is sponsored through the cooperation of the Ohio University School of Theater, Ohio Valley Summer Theater, Inc. and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. The group is available for booking by contacting Robert Winters, School of Theater, 097 Radio-Television Building, Ohio University Athens, Ohio 45701.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,
Do you want to read some definitions of an American?
He will whip the enemy and then give them the shirt off his back.
He yells for the government to balance the budget, then takes his last dime to make the down payment on a car.
He knows the lineup of every baseball team in the major league, and doesn't know half of the words of the "Star Spangled Banner".
You know Americans at heart are pretty nice folks.
Respectfully,

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Teacher Lists Benefits

DEAR ABBY: As a teacher of 11th grade English, may I respond to the irate parent who objected to the "trashy" books his child was required to read in school? That letter could have been directed at me personally because I have recommended such widely accepted literary classics as "The Grapes of Wrath," "Brave New World," and the ever-controversial "Catcher In The Rye."

First of all, I respect the wishes of any parent who does not want his child to read certain books, and it the parent has the courage to let me know directly (and not through an anonymous phone call to my principal), I will gladly suggest some alternatives.

Second, I, like you, Abby, am also "turned off" by certain vulgar four-letter words, mainly because of my own straight-laced upbringing. However, I suggest that no one can judge a book by selecting isolated passages from it. For instance, both "Grapes of Wrath" and "Catcher in the Rye" deal with the importance of feeling a sense of concern and responsibility for one's fellowman.

I realize that this letter is probably much too long for your column but I feel so strongly about the value of presenting modern, readable and relevant books to our teenagers that I wish to air my views. As a teen-ager I never was nearly as excited about books as I am today and I attribute my lack of enthusiasm to the dull, "safe," uncontroversial books which were the typical fare for high school English classes back in the 50s.

I want more than anything else to create in my students a genuine desire to read, and that can be accomplished only by exposing them to thought provoking books that speak directly to them in modern language which, unfortunately, often includes a few words which happen to be offensive to me.

A TEACHER (I HOPE)

DEAR TEACHER: Well put. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: What do you say to a mother-in-law who insists on naming our unborn SON? (If it's a daughter-no problem.)

Doesn't she know that the baby's name should be decided by the baby's mother and father?

This is our first child and we are hoping for a boy, but this situation is making me secretly want a girl! Hurry your answer. I hope it gets here before the baby does.

MOM-IN-WAITING

DEAR MOM: No one can name your baby without your consent. When the baby arrives, don't "say" anything, do your own naming, and don't apologize.

DEAR ABBY: Why should parents of the bride pay for the wedding? I know the book of etiquette says they should-but that's not a good enough reason.

My father made it clear to his daughters that he would double mortgage his home to give us all college educations, but as for weddings he'd buy us a ladder. I didn't take the college education, and when it came time for me to marry, my fiancé and I decided to have a big wedding at our own expense.

Working together for a common goal taught us about the responsibilities we were going to have to face as husband and wife. After a year of scrimping and saving, we had a beautiful formal wedding with all the trimmings. We were so proud of ourselves!

Six years later, we are in our own home, with baby number two on the way. Everything we have we both worked for and we don't have to thank anyone but God for it. I want to say a big thank you to my father for making that decision and sticking to it. That was the best gift he ever gave me.

DEAR HAPPY: Three cheers for Dad. And hooray for you and your husband. Young lovers, take note!

When Kate's brother became a widower, she moved in with him and took over the care of his household. Three years later, he too passed away. At the probate of his estate Kate put in a claim for "services rendered."

"Although my brother and I never discussed money," she told the court, "I just took it for granted that eventually I would be paid for my work. After all, I didn't have to do it. I was not my brother's keeper."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The court said the natural presumption was that Kate had helped her brother for reasons of affection, not money. If she expected payment, added the court, she should have made that clear from the start.

Questions of this kind arise often in probate proceedings, when claims for services rendered to the deceased must be dealt with. As a rule, the closer the relationship between the claimant and the deceased, the more likely the court is to say that the services were given free.

But the individual circumstances can make a big difference. In another case, a man sought payment for carpentry, painting, and cement work he had done on the house of his late brother.

This time, the brothers had been living separately, with their own separate families. In this situation, the court decided that the claimant could reasonably have expected to be paid, even without any agreement to that effect.

The extent of the services, too, may be a factor. A sister who took over the management of her brother's home also took over the burdensome task of nursing him. He was seriously ill, and needed almost constant attention.

After his death, a judge ruled that the sister was indeed entitled to wages for her efforts. The judge said that even for a loving sister, this was an extraordinary amount of service. A Pickaway County Bar Assn. An American Bar and Ohio State Bar public service feature by Will Bernard.

Hearings On Budget Boost Slated

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings before the Senate Finance Committee are expected to begin soon on a Republican proposal to add about $56 million to Ohio's $10 billion budget for 1973-1975.

Its chances look slim. Sen. Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, chairman of the Senate committee, and Rep. Fred N. Young, R-38 Dayton, ranking Republican of the House Finance Committee, are leading the push for a supplemental appropriations bill when the legislature returns after the May 7 primary election.

They claim state revenues are running considerably higher than were estimated when the legislature passed the appropriations bill in June, 1973.

The $56 million figure is their estimate of the alleged surplus at the end of the biennium June 30, 1975.

Dennis and Young want to split up the money in several ways with the major item being repeal of the state's 5 per cent personal intangibles tax on investment earnings. That would take $30 million.

They also would increase the personal exemption under the state income tax from $500 to $600. That would demand $7 million by cutting the state's tax take.

School subsidies would be extended to Ohio's middle cities in the amount of $3.4 million, a program for transporting mentally retarded pupils would get $5.4 million, special regional education training centers $2.5 million, funds for family practice departments in medical schools $1 million and the homestead property tax exemption would be increased by $3.5 million.

No sooner had Dennis and Young announced their plan at a news conference than the administration of Gov. John J. Gilligan and Democratic legislators set up a howl.

John B. Olsen, director of the Office of Budget and Management, denied the existence of such a surplus. He said the proposal was "somewhat surprising...in view of shortfalls in tax collections" during January, February and March of this year.

Olsen said that during March — for which Dennis and Young did not request figures — "the state's revenues fell $15.1 million below estimates, even after providing for the transfer of revenue sharing funds and the accrual of March liquor profits."

"There is no reason to presume that the state will realize greater than estimated revenues," said Olsen. "There is every reason to be concerned about a continuing decline."

PICKAWAY GRAIN

A Page Of Opinion

4,964 Years To Go

How much did the average person imagine the world would change in 5,000 years when, back in 1938, a capsule was buried 50 feet in the earth to preserve the details of man's condition then for the enlightenment of the Earth's inhabitants in the year 6938?

The 7½-foot torpedo-like capsule in which the record was entombed at Flushing, N.Y., was the brainchild of Westinghouse. Its record of the time was intended to tell the history, arts, sciences and customs of the peoples alive in 1938.

Archaeologists, historians and authorities in virtually every field of science, medicine and arts, in selecting its contents, gathered together everything from a slide rule to a woman's hat as well as microfilm recordings of millions of words of printed matter and several reels of sound newsreels.

Many persons probably had doubts at the time that this effort was really necessary. Perhaps it occurred to them that those future times would pass down by other means whatever might be worth remembering about 1938 and earlier.

If so, it may be of interest to spend a moment looking at some of the strides the world has taken in the 36 years since the capsule was buried. Already much that seemed important then has lost importance. Two new ages have been ushered in — the age of the atom and the age of outer space.

All this and 4,964 years to go before the capsule will tell its story. Will it be of interest in that future time? Thirty-six years ago it was assumed that it would be — and also that it would seem strange to those to receive it — but today, less than four decades later, it must be asked whether anything can be assumed.

A Glance Heavenward

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Speaking of resurrections, an anthropologist asks me to join with a lot of other cosmic thinkers and write a few paragraphs on what I think life in the hereafter will be like.

The anthropologist seems to believe there's a pretty good chance I'll detour Hell and Purgatory and hit the pink cloud and harp belt that floats at a higher altitude. That's a pretty daring assumption, but this is no time to knock it. I've got certain credentials. One is the Salvation Army's Humanitarian Award which was presented to me the other night in Palm Beach, Fla. The citation was crystal clear: I was given the award for never having tripped a Salvation Army lassie while she was playing her cornet. There was also the time I took Toots Shor home. We had been at the party so long, his clothes had gone out of style.

I figure Heaven must be a place where you cannot dial (212) 999-3838 and listen to a recording of Henny Youngman telling jokes about his wife.

It must be a place without politicians, or people who greet you with "long time no see."

Five will get you ten that there are no alimony jails in heaven, or preachers who insist on rewriting Abraham, Moses, Confucius, Christ, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Paul, Thomas Aquinas, Muhammad, Martin Luther and Martin Luther King.

I'd be surprised if there was even one leaky basement up there, or any car mechanics, TV repairmen, or doctors who won't make house calls when the kids are yelping with the yaws.

If there is auto traffic in Heaven I'd expect the roads would be cleared, somehow, of jerks who drive too fast, honk too loud, and have ten for the road. Then get the ticket fixed.

I'd suppose by this time that somebody in Heaven has come up with a no-cal Scotch; a method of keeping the ball down the middle; and dropping 15-foot putts.

Heaven must be a place that never heard of a discotheque, a massage parlor, a Saturday night special, kidnappers, skyjackers, pushers, or one of the earth's greatest plagues — the pizza.

Since man first stood upright and scraped his thoughts on the wall of his cave, he has been having visions of a Heaven of some sort which one day he might attain and live happily ever after — even though he might run into several of his ex-wives and mothers-in-law. He has never been able to describe it.

Shakespeare, among others, gave up: To gild refined gold, to paint the lily, To throw a perfume on the violet,

To smooth the ice, or add another hue Unto the rainbow, or with taper-light To seek the beauteous eye of Heaven to garish, Is wasteful and ridiculous excess.

Robert Browning could not have been too sure of his facts when he wrote, "God's in his Heaven: All's right with the world." Alfred, Lord Tennyson was equally fuzzy when he penned, "Marriages are made in Heaven." Perhaps Thomas Moore said it all: "The Heaven of each is but what each desires."

The anthropologist had another request: Who would you like to meet in Heaven? Name five.

Well, I'd like to meet the Chairman of the Board and His Son, the Chief Executive Officer, and the Son's mother. But I imagine they are all tied up, listening to so many false pledges and selfish requests from earth. So I think I'd look around for five less esteemed residents, after crashing the pearly gates during Peter's nap.

I'd like to have an interview with

Lincoln, about Watergate. Questions like, "What would you do if you were in Nixon's shoes?" Also, "Do you think the Emancipation Proclamation should be extended to free the Puerto Ricans, Cubans, Chicanos, and those who lammed during the Vietnam War?" "Did you ever really love Mary Todd?"

Big George Washington would be on the list of five, of course. "How would you handle the repetitious wars in the Middle East?" "How did you get in here after that whopper you told about throwing a buck across the Rapahannock?"

Next, Henry Mencken, I guess, just to sympathize with him for being unable to make it back to earth long enough to cover Sen. Sam Ervin's committee and hear with his own ears the questions asked by Senators Weicker and Montoya.

Then I'd look up my mother and father, wish them a happy Easter, and thank them for not believing in planned parenthood.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNEIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — More than two factors are holding down the stock market but you'd find yourself with a following if you chose only two: High interest rates and the activities of institutions.

High rates mean that bonds compete with stocks for the investment dollar, reducing the flow of money that in more normal times might be expected to tend in the direction of equities.

Moreover, high interest rates cut into the profits of corporations by adding to costs, just as do increases in labor or raw material prices.

The activities of institutions, it is argued, are resulting in a two-tier market, with shares of a favored group of less than 100 companies attracting considerable interest and the rest of the market little interest at all.

Officers of some companies complain that they simply cannot interest portfolio managers of the institutions — mutual and pension funds, bank trusts and insurance companies — in the attractiveness of their wares.

In addition, they contend that when the institutions do become involved with shares of some of the smaller and lesser known companies they tend to dominate the market and sometimes produce sharp price movements.

"These practices alienated — and still do — the small investors and harmed many well-managed second- and third-tier companies," said C.V.

Wood, Jr., chairman of the Committee of Publicly Owned Companies earlier this month.

The committee, observing its first anniversary, is made up of 632 corporations with total assets of more than $55 billion and 2.5 million shareholders whose shares are traded on most of the big exchanges.

Wood noted that for the second straight year, there are 800,000 fewer shareholders of American companies. Indicative of lagging interest in the market, only 99 new issues were marketed in 1973 compared with 568 in 1972.

This lack of interest in stocks has led to some of the lowest price-earnings multiples in decades. The committee claims that three-fifths of "leading" companies have multiples below 10, meaning their shares are priced at less than 10 times earnings.

Multiple problems result from low price-earnings multiples, and it's anyone's choice as to which are the worst.

For one thing, corporations badly need equity capital in order to maintain and expand their plants and equipment. The committee estimates that between now and 1985 the country will need $3.3 trillion in new capital simply to provide jobs and goods for an expanding population.

A problem of perhaps equal magnitude is that many of the companies in the second tier have stock prices so depressed that they are increasingly the target of takeovers by foreign concerns.

Impeachment Call Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — A "narrow plurality" of Americans for the first time want President Nixon impeached or removed from office, pollster Louis Harris says.

His firm's latest survey, released Friday, showed 43 per cent in favor of both actions, 41 per cent against and 16 per cent undecided.

The poll of 1,495 families nationwide was conducted between March 24 and 29, before a congressional committee said Nixon owed some $465,000 in back federal income taxes.

"It is fair to conclude that the American people now want the full procedures of the Constitution regarding impeachment to be invoked against President Nixon," Harris said.

Seventy-two per cent of those polled gave Nixon negative marks on the way he is cooperating with the impeachment proceedings.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, April 15, the 105th day of 1974. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died in a Washington boarding house across the street from Ford's Theater, where he had been shot the night before by John Wilkes Booth.

On this date:

In 1638, English settlers arrived at what is now New Haven, Conn.

In 1850, San Francisco was incorporated as a city.

In 1861, President Abraham Lincoln called out militia to suppress the Southern Confederacy.

In 1940, during World War 2, British and French troops landed on the coast of Norway.

In 1945, the body of President Franklin D. Roosevelt was buried at the family home at Hyde Park, N.Y.

In 1959, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in Washington to begin a goodwill tour of the United States.

Ten years ago: Gen. Castelo Branco was sworn in as the new president of Brazil.

Five years ago: Police in Italy quelled prison riots in Milan and Turin.

One year ago: President Nixon announced plans for a tour of Europe.

Today's birthday: The former president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, A. Philip Randolph, is 85 years old.

Thought for today: I envy no man, no, not I, and no man envies me—Charles Mackay, English writer, 1814-1889.

Ford Office Denies Veep Is Running

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald R. Ford's office says it is upset with an allegation that the vice president talks like a man who is laying plans to assume the presidency.

Press Secretary Paul Miltich confirmed that Ford discussed with his aides might be if he became president for an article in the New Republic magazine — but said Ford first emphasized that he does not expect to be president.

Miltich said he is less upset with the article than with New York Times columnist William Safire's criticism that "it is unseemly for the vice president to be confiding his plans for the assumption of power while the body of the sitting president is still warm."

Safire's account, Miltich said, "makes it sound like Ford is waiting in the wing frothing at the mouth wanting to be president. This is just not an accurate characterization."

Ford has been willing to answer speculative questions on what he might do as president, Miltich said, because of the inherent responsibility of any vice president to be able to succeed to the presidency.

Ford has said repeatedly that he does not plan to run for president in 1976.

AT&T Line Rate Hike Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone and Telegraph Co. has postponed for 60 days implementation of a new rate structure that would boost bills for customers who lease telephone lines for private use, including news services and the federal government.

The new rates were to have gone into effect this Sunday, but AT&T delayed the action at the request of the Federal Communications Commission, which wants more time to study them.

The postponement was announced Friday in a news release from AT&T headquarters.

About 19,000 businesses, industrial firms and governmental agencies would be affected by the change in rates proposed early this year.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I've been told to stop smoking because I get cramps in my legs. I can't see the connection between the two.

Mr. R. E., Mich.

Dear Mr. E.:

I have always emphasized to my readers that when they understand the reasons for any treatment they are more likely to rigidly follow the doctor's instructions.

Unless it is clear to them, the chances are great that they will casually disregard the importance of those instructions.

It is well established that the toxic agents in cigarettes are responsible for the contraction of the blood vessels in the body. It is this contraction and the narrowing of the arteries that cut down on the free flow of blood.

When the muscles of the legs are deprived of the oxygen that normally is carried in the blood stream, they go into spasm, and severe pain results.

The oxygen requirements of the muscles of the legs are no different from that of the heart muscle and other organs of the body.

While cigarette smoking is not the only reason for blood circulatory

disturbances, it is a most important one.

Some people are particularly subject to tobacco toxicity and develop Burger's Disease, a special circulatory problem of major importance.

There now are a great many tests by which the blood flow of the arteries can be measured.

The oscillometer is a highly sensitive instrument which can measure the pulsations of the arteries in the foot and leg.

Electronic thermometers, when applied to the skin, can measure the slightest diminution of temperature. This is a guide to the reduced flow of blood to the extremities.

Anyone subject to the leg cramps you describe who continues to smoke is toying with his health and possibly his life.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Nonfunctioning pilot lights in gas ovens can cause explosions. The accumulation of nonodorless gas is a major hazard within the "safety" of the home.

Still Has Magic

By JIM BISHOP

At last the big room grew silent. The sparkling crystal chandeliers sat around snowy tables, bosoms heaving. Their husbands dressed like penguins. The tiny blue spotlight cast a cone over all the diners and picked up the tough, beaming face of Frank Sinatra. The show was on.

He was working for nothing, so he worked his tail off. Seventeen hundred of the rich paid $360,000 to help Saint Jude's Hospital in Memphis. The sick children were far away and, hopefully, sleeping. This was the Fontainebleau Hotel at Miami Beach.

The big orchestra rapped out a few bars of "Rainy Day" and Sinatra's patent leather shoe picked up the beat, the head began to sway, and the throaty notes came up a cascade of pure water. It was like old times, and sometimes better than old times.

The Prince of Light was in command, and command is the word. The old ladies and the young snapped their fingers to the rhythm, jerked their heads and slapped their sequined thighs. By the time he reached "My Kind of Town," he urged the band to split the room with sound and he came up over it, shouting the words.

The rich men came to their feet, an unusual standing ovation in the middle of a chorus. For a moment, there was an empty chair next to me and ghost of Joe E. Lewis slid into it, touching his lips for me to be quiet. This was his song, his Chicago, and he needed to hear it just once more.

He used to cry listening. The dead are tearless. He grinned and applauded silently as Sinatra took a Scotch from the piano and drank it during a four-bar rest. Joe Robbie, owner of the Dolphins, hummed the words like an owl afraid to say, "Who?"

Leo Durocher ran a bald palm over a bald head and remembered and remembered. Mike Douglas, a star without envy, cupped his hands to shout approval. By the time Frank tossed a tender whisper to "Send in the Clowns," the ladies tried to rush the stage with their cameras.

Some critics say his pipes are gone, but that's like saying the Pieta is not as great as when it was new. Mr. Sinatra is 56 and it's a long way, baby, from Hoboken. He fought all the battles, climbed all the cliffs, earned all the money and worked out a high standard of loyalty to his friends.

He took bows, walked off to thunder and returned shrugging. "I didn't come all this way to sing four numbers," he said. The orchestra ripped through "That's Life!" and "I've Got You Under My Skin," and the people acted like animals when they heard the old standards.

The Prince of Light is no Jolson, cracking old notes like nuts to win applause from those who weep for their youth. Oh, no. Command is the word, and when he loses that magical presence which brings the cooks tipping in from the kitchen, he will quit and probably break all the old records which could break his heart.

The people did not pay $360,000 primarily to help St. Jude's Hospital. These are the jades who will pay to see something they can't buy. "I get a kick out of you," he snapped, and that's what they were getting from Sinatra.

He was no forlorn has-been, dusted off to stand in that baby blue spotlight and act as a misty headstone of another time, another place. He was there to sing his guts out, and he hung them on every word of every lyric until they begged him to sing all night.

The band began to tire. In the middle of "Bad, Bad Leroy Brown," he lifted his arm a couple of times to bring the brass up smartly. Then he wiped out the last note with a snarl, and walked slowly off. They stood, they howled, they whistled. Sinatra did not come back.

The spirit was fatigued. Backstage, he put an arm around Jilly, the restaurateur who blocks for Frankie, and a policeman opened the way and took him to an elevator. He walked into a suite of rooms and dropped into a chair. "Shut the phone service off," he said huskily.

Far below the hotel window, the waves curled in with a sound and rhythm of their own. They had it long before anyone heard of Frank Sinatra, and they'll have it long after he has been forgotten.

But right now — in this century — the people pay to hear him, not them. He's more than a voice; more than a great stubborn talent. In a manner I cannot describe, Sinatra commands you to listen. I guess he is everybody's good years . . .

Vice President Enjoys Sunshine

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford enjoyed warm sunshine as he and his wife relaxed at the estate of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain.

The Fords arrived Saturday and are to return to Washington next Sunday. The vice president is to speak at the dedication of a senior citizen project today, and he is expected to play golf on the private ninehole course of the walled estate.

Jazz Concert Scheduled On Radio And TV

WOSU and the College of the Arts today announced a live stereo-colorcast of the OSU Jazz Ensemble under the direction of Tom Battemberg. On May 13, "Jazz from Tomorrow" will mark the first occasion that WOSU-TV and WOSU-FM will have combined to live event in stereo on WOSU-FM at 89.7 and in color on Channel 34, WOSU-TV. This special one-hour concert will originate from The Fawcett Center for Tomorrow on The Ohio State University campus and is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. This broadcast comes about as a result of the enthusiastic audience response received after WOSU-FM's live broadcast of the OSU Jazz Ensemble concert with Urbie Green in February.

Fugio Cent Was First U.S. Coin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first coin authorized by the United States Congress was the 1787 Fugio cent. The Latin inscription Fugio, in conjunction with a sundial, supposedly was to signify "time flies." The coin also bore the terse, strictly American admonition: "Mind your business."

Red Cross Shelters Now Empty

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Red Cross shelters that housed up to 8,200 persons following a killer tornado that destroyed half of this town 11 days ago were empty today, a spokesman said. The last three families which used the temporary homes moved out Sunday after finding permanent dwellings in the area. Meanwhile, a contingent of military police of the Ohio National Guard was held over until today to prevent looting which has increased in the past week. The troops were scheduled to be sent home Sunday. Reliefs were expected today. Xenia residents were alerted to another possible tornado Sunday as the National Weather Service issued a tornado warning for the area about midday. About 80 federal disaster workers and applicants for relief at one of the shelters moved into the basement of a school when a funnel cloud was sighted, relief coordinator Jim Kautzman said. The cloud remained aloft and there was no damage, he said.

Bernstein's 'Mass' Presented By OSU

Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" will be presented by the Ohio State University College of the Arts at Mershon Auditorium on May 17-18. Tickets are on sale now for the 8 p.m. performances of one of the most exciting events of the arts in Central Ohio. This controversial theater piece for singers, dancers, players and orchestra is like no other that has ever been written. Though plotless, the work portrays a priest gathering his flock around him for the celebration of Mass. It includes a group of dancers, two rock bands, a 60-voice choir, a 30-voice chorus and a group of street people including flower children. Conservationists See Substitutes WASHINGTON (AP) — Whale meat is still used for food, and whale oil goes into the manufacture of cosmetics, soap, shoe polish, margarine and other products. But with the great herds now gone, conservationists argue that substitute materials are available.

Europe No Longer Grain Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western Europe, one of the world's largest markets for U.S. farm products, is rapidly on its way to becoming self-sufficient in grain and may move into international markets as an exporter much sooner than earlier expected. The march by Europe toward self-sufficiency in grain was analyzed today in an Agriculture Department report. It was written by Donald M. Phillips Jr., a foreign demand specialist in the department's Economic Research Service. Phillips cautioned, however, that estimates for European production — centered in European Community countries — are subject to change. But he acknowledged that "it is already

Airplane Crash Kills 3 Persons At Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials are investigating the cause of the crash Saturday of a Piper Cherokee 140 that resulted in the deaths of three persons. The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the victims as Roderick C. Long, 26, Bainbridge, a flight instructor; David L. Wolery, 35, Portsmouth, a student pilot, and William Ray Crater, 36, Dayton, a passenger. A spokesman for the patrol said the aircraft was starting a flight to Portsmouth when it crashed on takeoff and burst into flames. The plane was owned by the Mid-America Pilot School, Columbus.

Tommy Sands Weds Secretary

HONOLULU (AP) — Tommy Sands, teen-aged singing idol and actor of the 1950s and 1960s, has married a Honolulu secretary. The ceremony was Sunday at the Kawaiahaoh Church here. Sands, 36, married Sheila Wallace, 24, in the second marriage for each. She has two children by a previous marriage. Sands is currently trying a singing comeback at a Waikiki nightclub after a four-year retirement. His last million-seller recording was "I'll Be Seeing You" in 1966. He appeared in the film "The Violent Ones" in 1967 and until recently had been conducting dinner and nightclub tours at Waikiki nightspots.

evident" grain production is growing faster than forecast earlier by U.S. experts. The impact on U.S. agriculture, if Europe attains self-sufficiency and becomes a net grain exporter, could be severe, the report indicated. Phillips cited a recent study made by Prof. F. Uhlmann of the West German Institute of Agricultural Marketing Research. Uhlmann calculated the original six members of the Community — Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands and West Germany — will "attain virtual self-sufficiency" by 1975 and could be exporting as much as four million metric tons of grain by 1985. Including the nine member countries — Denmark, Ireland and Britain are recent newcomers — Uhlmann said the community could grow enough grain for its own needs by 1985.

Bryce Harlow Ends Nixon Post

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Bryce N. Harlow has ended his job as White House counselor. Harlow was officially off the job Sunday. He began working at the White House when President Nixon took office in January 1969, left in June 1970 and returned last June to help the President through Watergate and other problems. He returned to the Proctor & Gamble Manufacturing Co. as a vice president.

Phillips noted that other studies of European agriculture also have pointed toward the community becoming a diminished market for U.S. farmers in the near future. A projection by Phillips' own agency showed recently that the European Community's purchase of foreign grain probably will drop to 1.3 million metric tons by 1985. Phillips said U.S. grain sales to the community in 1972-73 totaled 13.3 million metric tons worth more than $900 million. During the first seven months of the current fiscal year, which began last July 1, shipments were 8.1 million tons. "While the EC probably will continue to import some highquality U.S. wheat as well as large quantities of corn, an over-all sharp decline in U.S. grain exports to the community seems inevitable, given the continuation of existing policies," Phillips said.

Researchers Improve Shrimp

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unlikely exchange of skills between federal fishery biologists and University of Arizona researchers in greenhouse environments for desert areas may lead to improvements in the culture of shrimp.

Most efforts to raise shrimp under seminatural conditions have been only moderately successful. Now experts from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration feel that the new "greenhouse" techniques may eliminate predators, competitors and adverse weather.

Lottery Commission Seeks Headquarters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Selection of a location in Cleveland for permanent headquarters of the new Ohio Lottery Commission will be the subject of a meeting Tuesday in the lakeside city.

The commission's executive director, John Kirkland, said two sites were under consideration as headquarters—the University Circle Research Center near Case Western Reserve University and the Ernest J. Bohn Towers in the downtown area.

David Leahy, the commission's chairman, said both sites are viewed as excellent locations.

University Circle Research Center Corp. owns the campus site, and the other building is a public housing project for the elderly, with office space on the lower floors. It is owned by the Rockwell Development Co.

The headquarters can be in business in 60 days, once a decision is made, Leahy said.

He has said before ticket sales will begin in late July.

The Ohio Ethics Commission, in the meantime, is expected to decide within the next few months on a possible conflict of interest involving a member of the commission, Louis S. Goldman of Dayton.

Gov. John J. Gilligan, earlier this year, asked the ethics panel to determine whether Goldman's position as a senior partner in a Dayton law firm violated Ohio's new ethics law.

It was noted at the time Goldman's firm does business with several state agencies, including the Ohio Department of Taxation and the state Board of Tax Appeals.

The General Assembly last year passed a code of ethics outlawing any public officeholder from practicing law before state agencies.

Goldman himself raised the conflict of interest question in a Jan. 7 letter to Gilligan, and offered his resignation at the governor's discretion.

Campaign records showed the next day, Jan. 8, Gilligan's reelection campaign got a $3,000 contribution from Goldman.

The governor two days later said he would seek ethics commission advice before acting on the matter.

The commission's director, Jerome Bahlmann, said a decision in the case probably won't be made for several months.

Ohio Income Shows Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reports personal income climbed 8 per cent in the 12-month period between February 1973 and the same month this year.

Income in February in Ohio, seasonally adjusted, amounted to $56.3 billion, the center said.

The center said all eight major city-county areas of the state reported payroll increase in the 12-month period except Akron and Dayton. Both experienced 3 per cent drops in income in February-February period, the center said.

Increase ranged from 8 per cent in Canton down to 1 per cent in Youngstown.

The center said payrolls in the construction industry in the state jumped 19 per cent in the year-long period under study, while payrolls for production workers and non-supervisory employees climbed by 2 per cent.

Oil Costs May Affect Lakes Ships

DETROIT (AP) — The opening of the Great Lakes shipping season brought mixed opinions about how oil costs will affect the port of Detroit and the entire Great Lakes region.

Some shipping industry officials predict the high cost of oil will prompt many ocean vessels to bypass Detroit and dock at coastal ports to conserve fuel.

Still others predicted the high volume trading in oil and grain will cause a scarcity of ships on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

They said they believe owners of vessels will choose to race their ships back and fourth between U. S. coastal cities and overseas ports rather than tie them up in longer voyages into the lakes.

But William A. Filbin Sr., president of the Detroit Customs Brokers Association, painted a less dismal picture for Detroit.

"The amount of commerce going directly out of Detroit by ship is decreasing. But the number of transactions—the overall commerce—is as good or better than ever," he said.

A spokesman for St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. predicted more ocean vessels would enter the seaway because of favorable American-Canadian prices for fuel.

He contends operators may plan voyages to take advantage of North America fuel prices rather than scheduling fuel stops in higher-priced Europe, Africa or Japan.

Rebel Rockets Hit Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Rebel gunners fired three rockets into Phnom Penh's southern suburbs today. One round hit the asphalt by the front gate of the presidential palace and the other two crashed into a nearby home, wounding three persons, police said.

Field reports said insurgent troops stormed into a government outpost eight miles south of Phnom Penh before dawn, but its garrison had fled during the night.

The bodies of eight government soldiers were reportedly left behind.

The outpost, which is only two miles from Takhmau, a southern suburb of Phnom Penh, had been under attack for five days, the Cambodian command said. It said intelligence reports indicated the rebels have been moving artillery into the region to strike Phnom Penh.

The Khmer Rouge fired five rockets into the southern part of Phnom Penh on Sunday. No casualties were reported, but two rockets landed near the presidential palace and the American Embassy.

It was the capital's second rocket attack in two days.

Heavy fighting also was reported around rebel-held Oudong, 23 miles north of Phnom Penh where government troops were trying to break out of a beachhead on the Tonle Sap River

Crash Story Said False

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The flight controller at New Caledonia's international airport today denied a report that a jet airliner had crashed into the sea off the French island in the South Pacific.

Major airlines servicing New Caledonia said none of their planes was missing. A full alert was ordered but was called off after all aircraft in the vicinity were accounted for.

Pierre Dubosq, the flight controller at Contouta Airport in New Caledonia, said a small airport 50 miles from Contouta reported receiving a distress signal from a small plane.

He said the pilot reported engine failure was causing him to lose altitude and he might have to land in the sea.

The nationality, type of plane and the pilot's name were not known.

Agence France Presse, the French news agency, reported in Paris that an airliner had made a crash landing north of New Caledonia, and 160 survivors had taken to liferafts.

The French news agency said the plane was a Pan American airliner.

Mississippi Floods Bring Death To 7

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Seven persons were dead and thousands were temporarily homeless today after weekend floods in southern Mississippi.

The floods were fueled by torrential rains which began Friday and continued nonstop through Sunday, ranging up to more than 16 inches in areas.

Bridges were washed away and many roads were closed in the flood area, which stretched 150 miles across the state from the Mississippi River on the west to the Alabama border on the east and as far north as Jackson.

The National Guard was called out to help with evacuations in Columbia and Hattiesburg, and a state civil defense spokesman in Jackson said the number of persons evacuated probably would approach 3,000.

No major rains were predicted for the area through Tuesday, but some rivers had not yet crested.

Forrest County Civil Defense Director Harold Hill said the Bowie River is expected to reach a record 32 feet today. It rose to only 31 feet during a damaging flood in 1961.

Most residents of the small Greene County community of McLain had left their homes by Sunday evening, one resident said.

"There is no point in waiting," she said. "They lost so much the last time (in the 1961 flood), that they have moved everything out and up to higher ground already."

At Hattiesburg, officials said at least 500 persons were housed in five Red Cross and Salvation Army Centers Sunday night.

Between 200 and 300 persons were forced out of their homes Sunday in the low-lying Morgantown area near Columbia. Some 100 to 150 persons evacuated homes in other parts of Marion County.

3 Children Injured In Accident

Three children were injured in a three-car accident on Route 23 at 3:20 p.m. Sunday. Injured were two-year-old Shane Mayberry, one-year-old Tricia Brown and 15-year-old Zane W. Wright. The two younger children received visible injuries and Wright complained of injuries after a three-car collision at the intersection of Route 23 and 316.

According to the report taken by Ptl. Dean A. Harrison of the State Highway Patrol, a car driven by Charles E. Brown, 23, Columbus, was stopped in traffic intending to make a left turn on to Route 316. A second vehicle driven by Harry G. McIntyre, 48, Marysville, came to a stop behind him. Barry Lee Mayberry, 23, Powell, was unable to stop and struck the McIntyre car in the rear which in turn collided into the Brown vehicle.

Mayberry was cited by the officer for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Fighting Marks Easter Holiday

Roman Catholics, Protestants and Orthodox Christians all celebrated Easter in Jerusalem on Sunday.

In Rome, Pope Paul VI urged mankind to follow "the law of duty, of service, of sorrow, of love, of sacrifice — the wise and true interpretation of human life."

Fierce fighting less than 100 miles away went almost unnoticed as pilgrims crowded into Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre, believed to mark the site of the burial and resurrection of Jesus.

All Christians celebrated Easter on the same day because of a leap year in the Orthodox calendar. The Western rites held their services first; then the Orthodox worshippers took over.

Security precautions were increased in Jerusalem because of the Arab guerrilla raid in northern Israel last week. But there was no trouble. The Ministry of Tourism said there were more than 45,000 pilgrims — including Jews for Passover — in the city. The crowd equaled that of last year.

An estimated 17,000 persons turned out for the Hollywood Bowl sunrise

Reformatory Guards Strike At Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Mansfield Reformatory was operating "fairly normally" in spite of a strike by more than half of the prison's employees, Supt. Robert White said Sunday.

Pickets barred deliveries of food and other supplies, White said, as the strike entered its third day Monday.

Some 260 of the institution's 450 guard and nonsupervisory employees were off the job in what they describe as a "confrontation" with prison officials over a list of grievances.

Some workers inside the prison were operating the prison, White said.

A Richland County judge ordered the number of pickets at the facility's entrance be limited, White said, but strikers ignored the injunction.

The facility houses about 1,300 inmates, White said.

The workers, members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees and the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association, submitted a list of grievances last week.

It included a request for an officers' lounge and new parking lot, White said.

Guards were also upset over complaints of brutality lodged by inmates with the prison's citizen advisory council, White said. A council member was reported to have made public the complaints last week, inciting the walkout.

White said no negotiations have been attempted. Representatives of the workers met with officials of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction last Thursday in Columbus.

Another meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, but there's no word on whether that will take place, White said.

Celeste Reports $22,400 Income During 1973

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal taxes in 1973 of $1,391, on an income of $22,400, have been reported by state Sen. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland.

Celeste, a candidate for lieutenant governor, said the income reported includes his legislative salary, his partnership in the National Housing Corp. of Lakewood and capital gains from stocks and interest.

Celeste, in a statement, said he is the first candidate for the job to make total disclosure of his finances.

Said the candidate: "I think it is essential right now for those of us seeking the votes of the people of Ohio to make it unmistakably clear to them that we're not seeking public office in order to enrich ourselves."

Perk To Run Without Help From President

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Ralph J. Perk said Saturday he would run for the U.S. Senate on his record and would not invite President Nixon or any other national figure to help him campaign.

"I don't know if I need anyone's help in campaigning," Perk told newsmen at Bowling Green State University. "I want people to vote for me on the basis of my record."

The mayor pledged that if elected to the Senate he would be a voice for the cities and work to overcome what he called congressional inaction on urban matters.

Perk added that he would oppose any attempt to force the President to resign. Such a move would make the U.S. "a second great power," he said.

going to be able to understand what resurrection means," said the Rev. Raymond D. Pope of the Faith Community United Methodist Church in Xenia, Ohio.

In Yellow Creek, Ga., members of the Community Baptist Church met for services where their wrecked church used to stand.

At the Vatican, Pope Paul — twice bedridden with the flu in the past month — ignored the advice of aides and held an outdoor mass on the steps of St. Peter's Basilica.

The day was damp and rain threatened, but 250,000 persons jammed St. Peter's Square. An estimated 200 million around the world watched on television as the 76-year-old Pope delivered his message in Italian in a firm voice.

The pontiff warned that "Hedonism, which becomes the false gospel of so many men and women of our time, is in the long run the philosophy of illusion and death."

Showers, Fog Mark U.S. Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thundershowers rumbled through the Northeast and the South today, while high winds caused flooding on the eastern coast of Lake Erie.

The showers in the Northeast spread from New England to eastern Pennsylvania. Fog cut visibilities to less than a mile along portions of the north Atlantic coast.

Parts of New York also reported thundershowers.

Waters of wind-whipped Lake Erie brought some flooding along the shore at Buffalo, N.Y., and Erie, Pa. Gales were reported to reach 50 miles per hour.

In the South, thundershowers spread along the Carolina coast and the Gulf coast from Louisiana to southern Texas. Hail the size of golf balls pelted the Texas communities of Charlotte and Derby on Sunday night.

Elsewhere, rain and thundershowers were reported in parts of Florida, Nebraska and South Dakota. Drizzle pestered northern Indiana and light snow fell in Northern Michigan.

Some clouds spread over the Pacific Northwest, but skies were mostly clear west of the Mississippi.

Freeze warnings were posted in Missouri, where temperatures were expected to dip during the night.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 77 at Key West, Fla., to 24 at Laramie, Wyo.

Say Many Crimes Go Unreported In Large Cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — As many as half of the crimes in the nation's five biggest cities are not being reported, according to a new government survey.

And Donald E. Santarelli, administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, says the disclosure carries "a strong message of public apathy toward...criminal justice institutions bordering on contempt."

According to the survey, released Sunday, the crime rate is five times as high as police records show in Philadelphia, nearly three times as high in Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles, and a little more than twice as high in New York.

"The crime survey results demonstrate that in an astounding number of instances Americans simply do not think it is worthwhile to report to public authorities that they have been the victim of criminal acts," said Santarelli.

The survey was conducted by the LEAA and the Census Bureau as part of a $10 million-a-year project to measure crime. An earlier study indicated that crime is twice as high as reported in Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, Dallas, Newark, St. Louis

Denver and Portland, Ore.

The latest study involved the questioning of persons in about 25,000 households and 10,000 businesses in the five cities during 1973. Those questioned were asked whether they had been raped, robbed, burglarized or assaulted during 1972 and if so, whether they had reported the crime to police.

Of those who did not report crimes 34 per cent said it was because of lack of proof or they felt nothing could be done. Twenty-eight per cent did not consider the crime important enough to report and others said they did not want to be bothered, it was a personal matter, it was too inconvenient or they were afraid of reprisal.

For all five cities, the report said, there was a total of 3.1 million crimes committed in 1972.

By comparison FBI statistics, compiled from local police agencies, listed 1.1 million crimes in the cities.

According to the study, 68 of every 1,000 Detroit residents are likely to be victims of serious crime.

It said the rates were 63 per 1,000 for Philadelphia, 56 per 1,000 for Chicago, 53 per 1,000 for Los Angeles and 36 per 1,000 for New York.

High Court Again Ponders Obscenity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has before it new arguments on an old and solution-resistant issue: obscenity.

The constitutional dust hardly has had time to settle around the court's major obscenity decisions last June.

At that time, the court eased the burden of prosecutors in demonstrating to a jury that material is obscene.

But Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, writing for the majority, declared that "no one will be subject to prosecution for the sale or exposure of obscene materials unless these materials depict or describe patently offensive 'hard core' sexual conduct specifically defined by the regulating state law..."

One of two cases the court will hear today involves an R-rated, critically acclaimed movie, "Carnal Knowledge," which played successfully nationwide but was declared obscene in Albany, Ga.

One question raised in the case is whether statewide or local standards are to be used in determining limits of candor in depicting sex.

In June, the court dispensed with the requirement that obscenity be judged by a national standard, but left doubt as to what new geographic range was to replace it.

Another question is the manner in which state courts in Georgia met the high court's demand for specific language to warn pornographers what the law prohibits.

Georgia used the language of its indecent exposure law. Critics claim this makes any display of nudity punishable obscene. But, they say, it hardly fits Burger's description of "hard core" depiction of sexual activity.

In the second case, the application of the federal law against mailing obscene material is being examined.

In June, Burger said national standards for obscenity were "hypothetical" and "unascertainable."

The mail case could be used by the court to determine just what kind of geographic standard should be used for a federal obscenity law in light of the condemnation of a national standard.

Application of local standards to the federal law could, in the view of some, make First Amendment rights to freedom of expression a function of postal routes.

Four Injured In Two-Car Accident

Ronnie Lee Unger, 22, Route 1, Laurelville, was cited, by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Danny Dewey, for assured clear distance ahead, when he was involved in a two-car accident, 10:22 a.m. Sunday.

Unger was travelling on State Route 56 when he hit a stopped car, driven by Harry Lewis Bachman, 70, Route 1, South Bloomingville.

Deputy Dewey also cited Bachman for being illegally stopped on a highway.

Unger received minor bruises, with passenger, Linda Lou Unger, 22, receiving minor cuts and bruises to the head. Bachman received a multiple laceration to the scalp, with passenger, Isabelle McKlary, 67, Route 1, South Bloomingville, receiving a fractured right ankle.

All were treated and released at Berger Hospital.

Judge Ammer Published In Law Review

Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer recently published an article on shock probation in the Capital University Law Review. The article not only cites some of the actual cases handled in Pickaway County but reviews the background and mechanisms of the statute.

Ammer writes that one of the major reasons shock probation was instituted Oct. 30, 1965 was due to the fact that the trial courts did not have the authority to suspend execution of a sentence. With the use of probation after serving 30 days, the statute can often serve as a rehabilitation tool.

The initial statute was amended in 1969 to force the court to act upon any motion within 60 days after it is filed and enter its ruling within ten days after the hearing. This amendment kept courts from holding a motion for many months before deciding on it.

Ammer continues in his article explaining the criteria which must be met before shock probation is granted. The foremost factor is the offense. Only probationable offenses are considered under the shock probation statute.

This eliminates possible probation of persons convicted of murder, or repeat of dangerous offenders. The court must also consider the protection of the public when granting probation under the statute.

The Capital University Law Review is published by the university and edited by students of the law school.

Circleville Wins Annual Kiwanis Relays

Circleville high school captured the annual Kiwanis Relays Saturday. It was perfect weather for the event and records were set in 13 of the 14 events. The Tiger point total was 48. Adena was in second place with 43 points, the only team seriously threatening Circleville.

Athens scored 26 points, Bloom Carroll 22, Fairfield Union 14, Waverly 13½, Unioto 13, Wilmington 12, Logan Elm 9½, Logan 9, Southeastern and Westland six each, Gallia Academy two and Greenfield McClain none.

This was the first year that field events were on a 2-man team basis.

therefore all the field events were classed as records for the relays.

Circleville won the high jump with Frank Plescia and Jeff Danford clearing a total of 11 feet 10 inches. In addition, Plescia's six feet two inches was an individual record.

The Tiger pole vaulting team of Reggie Radcliff and Jim Cordle combined for a total of 25 feet two inches. Radcliff cleared 13 feet two inches which is an individual record for the relays and also a new school record. The old school record was 13 feet, also set by Radcliff earlier this year.

Logan Elm's long jump team of Mark Hawks and Steve Sargent combined to set the record in that event of 39 feet 11 inches. Hawks sailed over 21 feet in his effort.

The Circleville shuttle hurdle relay team composed of Jeff Danford, Herb Sturgell, Jim Cordle and Frank Plescia was clocked in 61.1, a record.

Those were the only three firsts for the Tigers, who placed second in three events, third in four events and fourth in three events.

The only race the Tigers did not earn points in was the medley relay. Adena led all teams in firsts with five while Athens captured four events in the meet.

Finishing second for the Tigers were the four mile relay team of Steve Watters, Matt McGowan, Jeff

Carter and John Stevens; the 440 relay team of Warren Yamarick, Tim Strawser, Reggie Radcliff, Rick Sampsill; the mile relay team of Robin Martin, Mike McCoy, Doug Radabaugh and John Ankrom.

Finishing third were the 880 relay team of Warren Yamarick, Tim Strawser, Wade Camp and Rick Sampsill; the shot team of Jim Arledge and Alan Van Vleit; the discus team of Tom England and Scott Bowman and the long jump team of Alan Underwood and Frank Plescia.

Finishing fourth were the sprint medley team of Warren Yamarick, Tim Strawser, Rick Sampsill and John Ankrom, the two mile team of Doug Radabaugh, John McCoy, Benny Weethee and Doug Palm; the distance medley of Doug Palm, Jeff Danford, Robin Martin and John Stevens.

The distance medley was the only race which was not a record. Here are the complete results of the meet:

Wildcats, MSU Lead Big Ten Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northwestern and Michigan State have jumped into the early lead in the Big Ten baseball race while defending champion Minnesota split a doubleheader and highly-regarded Michigan failed to post a victory over the weekend.

Northwestern opened the season Friday by bombing Indiana 17-9 and 7-3 and then split a doubleheader with Ohio State Saturday with the Wildcats winning the opener 6-1, then getting belted 21-1 by the Buckeyes.

Michigan State started fast Friday with 9-0 and 5-1 triumphs over Purdue and then split a doubleheader with Illinois Saturday, winning the opener 6-1 but dropping the nightcap 10-3.

Minnesota beat Iowa 8-2 in the nightcap Sunday after dropping the opener 4-3. The Gophers were not scheduled Friday and were rained out of a doubleheader Saturday.

Michigan was rained out of a doubleheader against Illinois Friday and were rained out of a doubleheader Saturday.

Michigan was rained out of a doubleheader against Illinois Friday and then the Wolverines were the victims of a double shutout by Purdue's Gary Mahoney and Kevin Widner Saturday.

Mahoney limited the Wolverines to four hits in a 1-0 masterpiece and Widner yielded only two safeties in a 2-0 Boilermaker triumph in the nightcap.

Indiana rebounded from its double loss to Northwestern and smashed Wisconsin 6-3 and 15-1 as Donnie Seidholz had seven hits in seven at bats, scored five times and drove in five runs.

Seidholz had a homer in the nightcap while Dave Barnett, the defending Big Ten batting champion, and Dave Wilson both blasted three-run homers for the Hoosiers.

"I haven't hit this green six times in the 18 years I've been playing here," he said to his caddie, Eddie McCoy. "But it won for me in 1961 and it's going to win for us again."

The little South African, dressed in black from neck to shoes, took a deliberate stance and let fly with a nine-iron.

The ball described a beautiful arc and plopped to within six inches of the pin—a virtual tap-in for a birdie three.

That one dramatic shot broke the logjam among four leaders Sunday and decided the 38th Masters Tournament, Player winning it at 10 under par—two strokes ahead of Dave Stockton and Tom Weiskopf.

Player, 37, from far off Johannesburg, repeated a victory he first scored in 1961—a record 13-year gap—and fixed his sights on new horizons.

"This gives me the first leg on the Grand Slam," Player said, referring to the four major championships—U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and Masters—which no man has ever won in a single year.

"At least, I am the only man with a chance this year to win it."

It is the last major goal also of Jack Nicklaus, holder of a record 14 major championships who made a spectacular come-from-behind stab at a fifth Masters' crown with an eagle at the par-five 13th, only to falter with bogeys at the 14th and 16th.

At one stage in the exciting Easter Sunday showdown, Big Jack, Player and Weiskopf were tied for the lead with Stockton only a stroke behind and pressure building from such sources as Bobby Nichols, Frank Beard, Jim Colbert, Phil Rodgers and Dave Hill.

Player finished with a 278, the first prize of $35,000 and the traditional green Masters jacket, which was a couple of sizes too big.

Certain Gill Nets May Be Outlawed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Approval of regulations banning the use of certain gill nets in parts of the Great Lakes is expected by June 1, state officials say.

The Natural Resources Commission is expected to act on regulations banning large-mesh gill nets for commercial fishing at its May 9 and 10 meeting, a Department of Natural Resources spokesman said.

Mustangs Sweep Doubleheader From Amanda-Clearcreek

The Westfall baseball team upped its record to 4-2 Saturday winning both ends of a doubleheader from Amanda-Clearcreek, 8-3 and 5-4.

Tribe Splits Twin Bill With Yanks

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It was the day of the homers Sunday as the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees divided up 12 four baggers and traded victories in a doubleheader.

New York won the opener 9-5 on six homers, while the Tribe took the nightcap 9-6, despite three more round-trippers by the visitors.

Former Indian Graig Nettles slammed two home runs in each game, bringing his season total to five all against his former teammates.

"I hit almost everything they threw up to me today, it was just one of those days," Nettles said. "The ballpark is the same here as in Shea (Stadium) practically, and all but the last one would have gone out. The last one was helped a lot by the wind."

The following batter, Mike Hegan, was decked by a Higendorf fastball which caught him on the helmet. When the Indians took their turn in the eighth, Yankee reliever Sparky Lyle promptly decked the first Indian batter, John Lowenstein. Lowenstein had to leave the game with a swollen left wrist.

Aspromonte and Yankee Manager Bill Virdon were called by home plate umpire Don Denkinger who warned, "The next pitch that slips from either side will mean your dismissal."

Craig Moore went all the way in the first game, fanning six, walking seven and allowing six hits.

The losing pitcher was McKenzie who whiffed three and walked six in two innings. He was relieved by Martin who finished the game. For Westfall, Tim Brigner singled and drove in one run, Chris Riddle hit two singles and drove in two runs, Moore singled and David Valone doubled.

Garnering hits for the visitors were Cassill with a double and a single, Martin with a double, Garner Smith and McKenzie with singles.

Westfall scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second and one in the third. Amanda scored a run in the first, one in the fifth and one in the seventh.

In the second game, David Valone's 3-2 run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning was the winning blow.

The Mustangs trailed 4-2 going into the seventh. Then Terry Hanson singled and Craig Moore walked to set the stage for Valone's round tripper. The only other hit for the Mustangs was Gary Thompson's double which drove in a run.

The winning pitcher for the Mustangs was Chris Riddle. He set down 11 of the Aces by strikeouts, walked only two and was touched for six hits, all singles.

Hartley started for the Aces and pitched six innings. He fanned nine and walked two. Martin finished the game, whiffing one.

The Mustangs and Huntington were scheduled 2 p.m. today, weather permitting at Westfall.

Red Sox Defeat Detroit, 7-5

The Circleville Herald, Monday April 15, 1974

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
Major league baseball found out about the birds and the bees Sunday. The American League got the bird while the National League got the bees.

A swarm of bees in San Diego took over the home plate area in San Diego, briefly delaying the Padres' game against San Francisco—but that's another story.

The bird was a victim of a "fowl" ball hit by Detroit's Willie Horton. And the Tigers were the victims of a couple of balls hit very fair...and very far...by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, carrying the Red Sox to a 7-5 triumph.

In other American League games, Minnesota mauled Kansas City 8-0 and California trimmed Chicago 6-3 and, in a pair of doubleheaders, Oakland topped Texas 4-2, then the Rangers rebounded 10-2 in the nightcap, and the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-5 before the Indians took the second game 9-6. Baltimore's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Red Sox 7, Tigers 5
The ball, hit by Horton struck and killed a pigeon passing over old Fenway Park, landed only a few feet in front of home plate.

The popup by Horton in the ninth inning hit the pigeon, which fell dead immediately in front of home plate. "It scared the hell outa me," said Boston catcher Bob Montgomery. "I jumped a foot in the air—and Willie jumped even higher."

What killed the Tigers was Yaz' bat. He drove in two runs in the first inning with a booming double and later scored on Dwight Evans' home run. Then Yaz crashed a homer of his own, a third-inning shot that proved to be the winning run. Ed Brinkman drove in three of Detroit's runs.

Bob Darwin continued his torrid hitting with a grand-slam homer, a triple and two singles to lead Minnesota's assault against Kansas City—but the Twins were more concerned about pitcher Bert Blyleven.

The right-hander held the Royals to six hits before leaving the game in the eighth inning with a slight muscle strain.

"Without Bert we're in trouble," Darwin said. And Manager Frank Quilici added: "He's the gun, baby."

But Blyleven downplayed his arm problem. "It's just a knot. It feels good now," he said after the game.

Angels 6, White Sox 3
Frank Robinson drove in a pair of runs with a homer—the 555th of his career—and a single and Dick Selma slammed the door on Chicago to lead the Angels, leaders in the West, to their sixth victory in eight games and keep the White Sox in the cellar with their sixth loss in seven.

Selma replaced Frank Tanana in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and none out, got pinch-hitter Carlos May to hit into a force play at the plate and then got Dick Allen to ground into a doubleplay.

A's 4-2, Rangers 2-10
Reggie Jackson cracked two home runs, the second one a three-run eighth-inning job, to boost Oakland past the Rangers. He's hit five homers this year, all against Texas.

In the second game, though, it was Dave Nelson who feasted. He drove in six runs with a three-run homer, a two-run single and a sacrifice fly, to bring the Ferguson Jenkins and the Rangers a twinbill split.

Yanks 9-6, Indians 5-9
The Yankees, making like the Bronx Bombers of old, won the opener on six homers, including two by Graig Nettles and one each by Thurman

Rose Still Hustling Despite Rainout

CINCINNATI (AP) — The familiar crew cut is gone, replaced by a mod look, but Pete Rose remains the eternal rookie who turned hustle into a trademark.

Now the oldest member of the Cincinnati Reds, outfielder Rose is still giving fans a run for their money.

"You learn as you get older you realize you have to be hungrier," Rose said Sunday on his 33rd birthday.

While rain forced postponement of the Reds game with the Atlanta Braves, the downpour didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the Cincinnati baseball star.

"You see so many players who are over the hill when they are 30," he said. "I believe part of the reason is that they think about it. They honestly believe that life is all downhill after 30."

Rose is rushing headlong toward his 10th season of hitting .300 or better.

The National League's Most Valuable Player in 1973 is hitting .395 after eight games. It's one of the fastest starts in his dozen seasons.

"I've never seen Pete nail the ball so well this early in the season," said Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

Rose's 0-for-2 effort Sunday was nullified by the rainout and that Munson, Ron Blomberg, Bobby Murcer and Mike Hegan.

Nettles also homered twice in the nightcap—but so did Cleveland's Dave Duncan. His timely hits, and John Ellis' four runs batted in, carried the Indians to victory in the nightcap.

pleased the senior member of the Reds.

"I can't even remember having a good day on my birthday," said Rose. "I remember last year I woke up hitting .440 and went to bed hitting .333. I went 0-for-10 in a doubleheader with the Giants."

"But I did make a good catch and we won both games. I'd take an 0-for-5 every birthday if we win," he said.

Rose led the league last year with a .338 batting average, second highest of his career.

Despite his hitting consistency, he's a noted slow starter. He went into August of 1972 with a .284 average, then hit .323 the final month to keep his string alive.

Tuesday night, he'll attempt to continue his torrid ways against one of his toughest nemesis of 1972. The Los Angeles Dodgers pitching staff limited Rose to a .282 average during the year—second best mark in the league.

The World Open golf championship to be played Sept. 12-15 in Pinehurst, N.C., will have a purse value of $300,000.

Hockey coach Jack Riley is coaching the Army sextet for the 24th season.

Celtics Top Knicks In Playoffs, 113-88

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Knicks are hoping that history repeats, but with captain John Havlicek healthy and in top form, the Boston Celtics figure to be even tougher this year in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference playoff final.

The Celtics got off to a quick start in the best-of-seven series, whipping the Knicks 113-88 Sunday with a tough defense and hot shooting. The teams will play Game 2 in New York Tuesday night.

The series opener was virtually a replay of the first game between the same clubs last year, the Celtics drubbing the Knicks 134-108. However, the Knicks rebounded in New York 129-96 in the second game and went on to win the series and the NBA championship.

Havlicek, a superstar, suffered a shoulder injury in the third game last year and the Celtics were unable to compensate. The shoulder mended during the off-season and the 12-year pro from Ohio State is flying.

Dividing his time between a forward position and the backcourt, Havlicek scored 25 points, collected 12 assists and grabbed four rebounds before being removed with 9:15 left and the Celtics in command with a 93-64 lead.

"Havlicek did it all," said New York star Walt Frazier. "He's always moving, and can make shots on the run. You can get the best position on him and he still gets the ball off. You can't relax on him. We're going to have to stop the Celtics from running. We didn't today."

The winner of the BostonNew York series will face the winner of the Milwaukee-Chicago Western Conference series for the NBA title. The Bucks and Bulls play the first game of their best-of-seven set Tuesday night at Milwaukee.

The American Basketball Association also is into its league semifinals. In the East Division, the New York Nets, leading Kentucky 1-0, meet the Colonels tonight in Game 2 at Uniondale, N.Y., and in the West, the Utah Stars, with a 1-0 advantage over Indiana, face the Pacers again tonight at Salt Lake City.

The Celtics hit 44 of 85 shots for a lopsided victory before a crowd of 14,101 and a national television audience. New York hit on only 34 of 103 field goal attempts, a poor 33 per cent.

Bob Senneker Wins Tri-County Feature

WEST CHESTER, Ohio (AP) — Bob Senneker took command near the midway mark of Sunday's 30-lap late model feature and went on to capture his third straight victory at TriCounty Speedway.

The Dorr, Mich., driver added three other titles. His 18.88 seconds on the quarter mile track was the top qualifying time. He also won the fast car dash and the pursuit event.

Glenn Allen of Lockland won the hobby stock event for the fourth time in five races.

The 1977 Walker Cup matches will be played at the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, Southampton, N. Y.

Padres Win Tilt, 6-5

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The San Diego Padres can wait until the National League approves the designated hitter rule, but they'll keep a designated exterminator on hand — just in case bees decide they like the surroundings in San Diego Stadium.

The bees put up a tenacious struggle to keep baseball from being played Sunday. They swarmed around the home plate area before the game started, preventing the Padres and San Francisco Giants from taking batting practice and delaying the start of the game for 26 minutes until the exterminator made his appearance.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Pittsburgh Pirates topped the St. Louis Cardinals 8-4 in the first game of a twinbill but lost the second game 6-5; the Philadelphia Phillies swept the New York Mets 2-1 and 5-3 in a doubleheader; and the Los Angeles Dodgers drubbed the Houston Astros 7-2.

The Cincinnati at Atlanta and Montreal at Chicago games were postponed by rain, with no makeup dates announced. "I don't know what attracted them. I've never seen anything like this in baseball before," said John McNamara, manager of the embarrassed Padres.

Some of the buzzing bees just wouldn't leave and the spray can made an appearance after nearly every half-inning.

The Padres won the game, by the way. Bobby Tolan's double scored Clarence Gaston to cap a five-run San Diego eighth inning and bring about a 6-5 victory.

Gary Matthews had put San Francisco in front 5-1 with a three-run homer in the seventh inning. But San Diego, with its new mascots, rallied to win.

Pirates 8-5, Cards 4-6
Rennie Stennett doubled for two runs in a five-run fourth inning which carried the Pirates to victory in the first game, but made a throwing error that resulted in two third-inning runs and a loss in the nightcap.

It was the first victory after six losses for the Pirates.

Willie Stargell hit a two-run homer for Pittsburgh in the first game and Stennett homered in the second. Bake

McBride hit a home run for the Cardinals in the nightcap. Phillies 2-5, Mets 1-3

The Phillies wrapped up both games in the late innings, taking the opener on a successful suicide squeeze bunt by Bill Robinson in the 11th and winning the second on a two-run double by Mike Anderson in the ninth.

The Mets managed only one run—Rusty Staub's first homer of the season—in the first game, despite 15 hits. Larry Bowa opened the Philadelphia 11th with a double off New York reliever Tug McGraw. Bowa moved to third on Mike Anderson's infield hit, then charged the plate with Robinson at bat.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Planetary influences are fairly generous, but you may run into some complex situations which will require exceedingly good judgment to solve. Be alert!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Neither borrow nor lend now. Even small, "friendly" transactions are likely to cause some unpleasantness in the future.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Aspects somewhat adverse where money matters are concerned. Don't make unnecessary purchases and don't let your natural optimism lead you into speculative ventures.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): More information may be needed to consummate a pending business deal. With the added facts on hand, proceed as originally planned.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some confusion indicated during the early hours, but it clears up WITHOUT your intervention, so don't let it disturb you. Evening favors romance, social activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Don't be too sure that your interests are not progressing. Look over the picture again. There is a proper delaying action in some areas. Don't give up.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Others may be overly aggressive, pressing for their "rights" to the exclusion of yours. Watch your own interests. Don't let them push you around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You have good reason for optimism now. A superior's enthusiasm for your efforts not only pays off, but further spurs your ambition and incentive.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Don't regard decisions made in the a.m. as final. Certain circumstances may necessitate revision later in the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Home and family concerns under highly beneficial influences. In fact, a recent domestic problem will finally be straightened out satisfactorily.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Curb a tendency toward wishful thinking. This is a day in which to stress realism and practicality. Imagination is great—except when it runs out of bounds.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A curious suggestion may be made. If you have even the slightest doubt about it, reject summarily. Your hunches are usually correct.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great ambition and a high degree of energy and determination—which help you to achieve plateaus of success which others would often consider unattainable. Though not quite as versatile as many born under your Sign, you, nevertheless, have been endowed with a number of talents through which you could carve an enviable career. You should be musically inclined, and could succeed as either performer or composer—or both. Your magnetic personality, coupled with your sense of the dramatic, makes you a "natural" for the theater, and a scientific bent, bracketed with a lively imagination, may take you into the field of invention. Traits to curb: impulsiveness and overaggressiveness. Birth-date of: Wilbur Wright, airplane inventor; Peter Ustinov and Charles Chaplin, film stars.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—So you think a 30-inch screen is a real bonanza for TV viewing? Stay tuned, Bunky. You ain't seen nothing yet. How about a 75-ton TV set with six screens, each 26 feet wide and 22 feet high?

Agreed, it's not the sort of thing you'd put in the living room. In fact, it only will be installed in the new $163 million Louisiana Superdome they're currently building in New Orleans.

But it's intended to bring all the comforts of home viewing, even slow-motion replays, to the 80,000-plus souls Superdome officials hope will visit their emporium to watch sports and other events live.

The officials hope to have it working by Jan. 12, 1975, when, if the Superdome is completed, pro football's Super Bowl 9 will be held in the 26-story enclosed arena.

The video monster, which costs an estimated $1.3 million, doesn't work like your conventional television system, according to Bob Jones, an ex-TV newsmen who now is the Superdome's director of television.

There'll be conventional TV cameras on the field for closeup action, but that's where convention ends. He says the signals will be piped to a control room, then to six massive, Swiss-made projectors located at strategic points on the arena's fifth floor.

The projectors then will cast the images on the giant screens hanging in a circle from the center of the Superdome. Officials claim it'll give a spectator in the most remote seat a view akin to what he'd see were he sitting in front of a three-foot TV screen at home.

"We can do anything with this system that commercial television can do," says Jones.

Alas, that also includes commercials, which Jones says probably will run only 30 seconds and be flashed on the screen only during breaks in whatever action is afoot down on the field.

The commercials are expected to net the Superdome $210,000 next year, he said.

Has anyone raised the point it might seem a bit ironic to go to a stadium and pay money to watch a game on television?

"No, not really," Jones laughed. "I've had some thoughts about it, but I was absolutely amazed when I saw a system vaguely like this at the Capitol Arena in Maryland, just outside Washington."

The attraction was a circus, he said, and he was struck by the interest of spectators in the arena's four TV screens. "I was sitting at one end, fairly high up, and I got a better view of some of the acts on the screen than actually looking at the acts themselves," he said.

"What I got was the atmosphere and spontaneity of sitting there, yet I got a nice close-up picture when I wanted one."

Report Nixon Put Pressure On Agnew For Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new book on Spiro T. Agnew's tax case says that while President Nixon kept voicing support for Agnew in public, White House aides eventually met privately with Agnew to demand his resignation. Nixon was particularly worried about Agnew taking the "impeachment track" by aiming his case toward the House of Representatives, according to the book, "A Heartbeat Away," being published today by Viking Press.

Agnew finally made a deal with the Justice Department, resigned Oct. 10 and pleaded no contest to a single charge of income tax evasion.

The authors of the book, Washington Post reporters Richard M. Cohen and Jules Witcover, said the Agnew impeachment option "was fraught with ominous parallel for the President himself."

"If Agnew could be impeached and

Nixon Asks Extension

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon, who has been told he owes $467,000 in back taxes and interest, has obtained a 60-day extension of the April 15 filing date for his 1973 tax return.

White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the extension was the type "any taxpayer can request" for additional time in filing a return.

He said Nixon asked for the extension because of the possible effect of the back-tax ruling on his 1973 return.

The Internal Revenue Service and a joint congressional committee on taxation ruled April 3 that Nixon owed back taxes for the years 1969-72.

The IRS disallowed Nixon's deductions for the gift of his vice presidential papers and certain real estate. Nixon has said he would pay the taxes.

Brooke Pushes Nixon To Quit

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., says he favors granting immunity to President Nixon from Watergate-related charges if the President agrees to resign.

"The price of stepping down from the highest office in this country would be a penalty that would meet any crime that could have been committed," Brooke said in a television interview Sunday.

He said Nixon's resignation would have to be accompanied by a bill of particulars outlining the charges to which he would admit guilt, similar to the procedure followed when former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew stepped down and pleaded no contest to federal tax charges.

Space Age Talking

RICHARDS ISLAND, Canada (AP) — A space age communications system is helping men searching for oil in this remote section of Canada's northland keep in touch with civilization.

Three oil companies are using a transportable satellite communications earth station equipped with a 10-foot dish antenna at this exploration site above the Arctic Circle to send and receive voice, data and teletype communications via the Anik Satellites. Both Anik and the portable station were developed and built by Hughes Aircraft Co., El Segundo, Calif.

Instead of depending on shortwave to attempt calls back and forth to the populated areas of southern Canada, some 2,000 miles away, the oil exploration teams communicate through the station, up 22,300 miles to the satellite, back down to an earth terminal near Toronto, then via landline to their home offices in Calgary. By reversing the procedure the home offices can contact the men working in the isolated outposts.

Farm Women Vote For Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's farm women appear to be joining their city sisters in wanting equality and the erasure of the "traditional role" of women.

According to a poll by Prairie Farmer, a leading rural magazine, farm women in Illinois and Indiana are two to one on favor of women taking any job they can handle. The ratio is three to one among women under 40 with some college training.

Better than three-quarters of the farm women polled felt their husbands should help out in the house at least occasionally. However, slightly less than three-quarters of the men actually did. Age was not a factor here. Young and old alike thought their husbands should pitch in.

In a separate poll, about one-third of the women questioned answered "no" when asked whether they would vote for a qualified female presidential candidate. Among farm women with some college, about one-quarter voted "no."

convicted, then perhaps it would not be so difficult for the now-reluctant congressmen to place Nixon on the same track and ride him out of office.

"Also, an Agnew impeachment trial would raise in unavoidable terms the basic constitutional question vexing the Watergate-plagued President: Was impeachment the mandatory first step for a president or vice president accused of crime, or could he be indicted first in a court of law?"

"Finally, once committed to the impeachment track, Agnew would be much less likely to agree to the swift, surgical solution that the President wanted — his resignation," the book said.

Cohen and Witcover said that the decisive incident behind Agnew's agreeing to resign was a meeting Sept. 10 involving the vice president, one of his lawyers, presidential counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and White House Chief of Staff Alexander T. Haig.

Haig, "abandoning the White House's addiction for circumlocution and subtlety... let Agnew have it," the book said. "The vice president had to resign. It was a simple, straightforward demand, and Haig kept hammering away at it."

U.S. Official Said Better

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Doctors declared U.S. Information Service chief Alfred Laun III "out of danger" today more than 72 hours after Marxist guerrillas shot him in the stomach, kidnaped him and abandoned him.

Doctors said they will decide in the next 48 hours whether it is convenient to transfer Laun to Buenos Aires.

The 36-year-old American was shot as he struggled with guerrillas of the People's Revolutionary Army who kidnaped him Friday from his home 20 miles north of Cordoba.

He was found abandoned 15 hours later on a street in Cordoba and rushed to a hospital for emergency surgery.

A communique issued by the guerrilla group said Laun was to have been tried by a "people's court" for alleged links with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and for giving communications assistance to the right-wing military leaders who overthrew the late President Salvador Allende in Chile last September.

Prison Gambling May Be Started

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Donald Bordenkircher, warden of the West Virginia Penitentiary, says he is considering instituting gambling under controlled conditions at the maximum security prison.

Money from the gambling would go into the inmate benefit fund for use in purchasing items for the entire prison population.

"It takes men out of the corridors in the evenings when they have nothing to do and gives them enjoyable entertainment," the warden said in an interview Sunday.

THE WINNER — Shauna Whaley displays the prize winning egg she found Saturday during the Easter egg hunt held by the minister and staff of Circleville Community Mission. Fred Strawser of Circleville Bible College is minister of the church and assisted in youth activities by his wife, Gloria. Bronson Haynes also won a prize for a marked egg and Nancy Happeney for the most found.

Proxmire Pushes End To Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire today called for abolition of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Selective Service and 14 other agencies on grounds they are useless and wasteful.

Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic subcommittee on priorities and economy in government, said that if any of the 16 are serving a useful purpose their functions can be moved to an existing agency.

"Virtually every bill passed by the Congress and signed by the president establishes some new agency, commission, board or advisory council," Proxmire said in a statement. "Once started, they take on a life of their own. They are never abolished."

For example, Proxmire said, Selective Service is asking $41 million this year to keep in operation even though under the law no one can be drafted.

Here are other agencies he proposes to abolish, and his reasons:

Renegotiation Board — He said this agency, which reviews profits of companies doing business with the government, allowed Grumman Aircraft to keep a 76 per cent return on net worth and Dow Chemical Co. to keep a 48 per cent profit.

Civil Defense — "The shelter programs, the evacuation program, and the contribution programs are sterling examples of make-work" because "in the nuclear world there is no place to hide."

A SURE WAY TO CUT FOOD COSTS

You're concerned about holding down your weekly food bills. Kroger shares your concern! But supermarkets have no control over the wholesale costs we must pay—and when those costs go up, they must eventually be reflected in retail prices.

There is a way you can cut your food bills right away . . . and without sacrificing quality or flavor. Food shopping experts across the nation recommend that you buy your supermarket's own brands. These offer quality equal to the nation's best-selling brands, yet are usually priced lower.

At Kroger, we offer several of our own fine brands. You'll see our own name, "Kroger," on most of them. Other high-quality Kroger brands include such familiar names as Country Club, Royal Viking, or Yubi. Strict specifications for these products call for quality equal to or better than the national brand most people buy.

And remember . . . every product sold at Kroger is Guaranteed Unconditionally. If you're not pleased, we'll replace it or give your money back. So why not try the Kroger Brands? You've nothing to lose and a lot to gain.

Don't miss this Offer!
